Oklahoma Senator Seeks Investigation Of Indian Mine Land Pacts

ment regarding the Doheny testimony and would make none until he appears before the committee Monday.

INCLUDES 27,840 ACRES
San Francisco, Calif. — Doheny leases on government oil lands in California under the name of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport, include 27,840 acres or 43 1/2 sections of the 58 sections in the oil reserve, according to maps prepared by the state bureau of mines.

The maps do not show when or how the holdings were acquired. This information has been brought out by examination of Edward L. Doheny by the senate investigating committee in Washington.

The Doheny leased land is conceded to be of immense value. Some of it has been drilled but much is yet untouched. The land is in the rich Elk Hills oil field, on territory near Taft, Calif.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—The grant by former Interior Secretary Fall of a lease on Quapaw Indian zinc and lead mining land in northeastern Oklahoma would be offered as the subject for a United States senatorial committee investigation under a resolution which Senator Courtland M. Feagony of Chandler has prepared for introduction in the upper house of the state legislature Friday.

The resolution also would request the senate committee investigating the Teapot Dome naval oil lease to develop further the recent testimony of W. G. Wahlberg to the effect that Harry F. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Oil Corporation, had turned over to his friend, Colonel William Zevely of Muskogee, Okla., $25,000 in liberty bonds which were not accounted for to him (Wahlberg).

This inquiry would be asked to determine whether any of the money was brought into Oklahoma for last gubernatorial campaign according to the resolution, which calls attention to the testimony given during the impeachment trial of former Governor J. C. Walton "indicating rumors throughout the state" that such had been done.

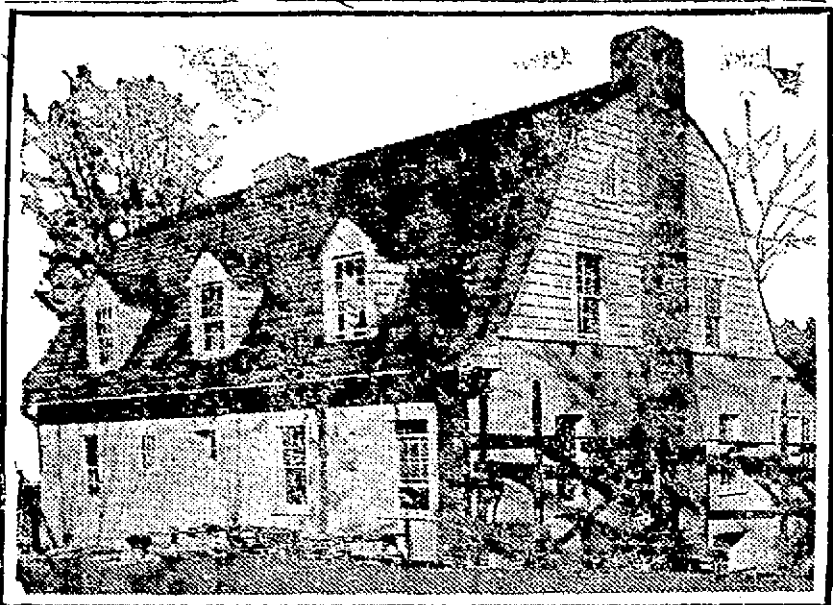

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gainer and son Victor returned Thursday to their home in Mackville after a visit with relatives in Green Bay.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).
The inventor, E. M. Johnson, 609 W. Lake-st., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month. adv.

Dirt From 'Cellar Will Build House For You

EARTH FROM THE BASEMENT MADE THIS HOUSE

Washington—Buy a lot, dig the basement—and build your house with the dirt. It's the latest blow to high building costs, and mechanical engineers declare the cheapness and durability of such construction may revolutionize small home building.

Dr. H. B. Humphrey, a government scientist, gave serious thought to Pripy's description of Hannibal's walls "molded rather than built by enclosing earth within a frame of timbers." He tried it, and his attractive new home is the result.

Among the features of this "packed earth" construction are: durability said to surpass that of brick; sound-proof, vermine-proof, odor-proof walls; warmth in winter, coolness in summer.

Frames are built as for concrete construction. Dry soil is packed into the frames. Four inches of dirt is put in at a time, and rammed until solid. Unskilled labor can do the work.

With the passing of years, the walls solidify into stone. Construction of this type, technically known as "pise," has been successfully carried on in Africa for generations. Is it the answer to the wage earner's prayer for a home of his own?

CALUMET-CO SELLS BONDS TO PAY FOR PAVEMENT

Bonds for $45,000 which will be issued by Calumet-co on May 1, 1924 to be paid on May 1, 1925 to pay for paving the gap between the pavement in Chilton and the concrete on the Chilton-Milbert road, a stretch of a mile and three-quarters. The resolution authorizing the bonds was passed at an adjourned annual session of the Calumet-co board.

'MILD' COLD WAVE STRIKES APPLETON

The cold wave predicted for Friday was slow in arriving and is mild compared with previous cold waves. At 7 o'clock Friday morning Schaefer's thermometer registered 5 degrees above zero and by 1 o'clock in the afternoon the temperature had dropped to zero. A severe gale accompanied the cold wave.

At 6 o'clock Thursday evening the temperature was 12 degrees above zero and began to drop gradually from that time. The forecast for Saturday is: Fair Friday night and Saturday; colder Friday night in east and south portions, and not quite so cold Saturday afternoon in west portion.

In the northwest a new high pressure area is developing. The minimum temperature is 22 below. It is this area which is giving Appleton its cold weather.

Observer Stewart, who is in charge of the weather bureau at Milwaukee, is unable to forecast how long the cold will last, the high pressure area being as yet not fully matured.

Netball Teams Tied

The Roses and the Thorns volleyball teams are tied as the result of three games played at St. Paul school on Thursday evening. The Roses won two games from the Thorns, giving them an equal number of victories. The tie will be played off next week.

It is no secret that so many women suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Dark circles under the eyes, a pale, drawn, haggard expression to the countenance, and the weakness which accompanies such ailments is evidenced by the lagging, step, headaches, and nervous conditions. Every woman who is afflicted in this way should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which for half a century has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women. adv.

C. OF C. DELEGATES LISTEN TO REVIEW OF U. S. PROBLEMS

Frank And Corbett Return From Central District Meeting In Chicago

Highly profitable and enlightening addresses on national problems were heard by J. P. Frank, national councilor, and Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary, of Appleton Chamber of Commerce who have returned from the first annual meeting in Chicago of the North Central district of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Delegates from half a dozen states were present.

The Mellon tax bill which is before congress was explained by Hon. Garret A. Wilson, undersecretary of the United States treasury. He traced the features of the bill which would bring certain desired reactions in business, and declared that those advocating adjusted compensation for the returned soldier are not speaking truthfully when they say the bonus can be paid and taxes reduced at the same time.

STUDY TRANSPORTATION

Commerce protestants because the national chamber's transportation survey was made without assistance of traffic experts of some of the commercial associations.

Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, speaking at the banquet in the gold room of Congress hotel, declared that state governments need to be simplified and indicated how Illinois had cut its number of boards from 100 to 14 while he was in office. Jurisdiction needs to be fixed definitely for each department, he said.

Considerable time was given to a discussion of the agricultural situation. Cooperative marketing was discussed. Charles J. Brandt, of the United States department of agriculture, told the delegates, because competition is needed. A much better situation would result, he said, if private and cooperative marketing groups were combined.

HELP MARKERS

James H. Bates, president of the National Farmers' Union, told of a farm survey in North Dakota made in conjunction with the Farm Bureau Federation to find out what has distributed conditions there. It was found that farms which were being abandoned represented an asset to their owners of at least $15,000. Financial aid will be provided these farmers to diversify their farming so as to prevent future failures, he said.

Immigration also was discussed quite fully. The general feeling was that the bars should not be let down so the country would be flooded with foreigners.

CRITICS CONFUSED BY MASTER PIANISTS

Guy Maier is the one who wears the glasses.

If you remember that sentence you will have solved the mystery of "which is which" when Maier and Pattison appear in their recital for two pianos at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Tuesday evening. The names of Guy Maier and Lee Pattison have been so much used together in connection with two piano compositions and recitals that even the critics have confused the two artists in their minds. They know them as two individuals but find it difficult to remember "which name belongs to which."

Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York symphony orchestra, presented the two artists at a rehearsal in the following manner: "Gentlemen: Let me introduce Mr. Maier and Mr. Pattison. You will know which is which for like 'Mike and Ike' they play alike."

A New York critic said after a recital which Mr. Maier gave by himself that he had solved the mystery. He knew now which was Maier and they never could get him confused again because Maier is the one who wears the glasses. "The fact that through years of practice the two artists have been able to play their ensemble work in great harmony and sympathy so that they seem to play alike make it more difficult to keep their name and identities straight."

Was A Good Judge of Liquor

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble which became chronic. My stomach would have been a veritable addition to a gas factory. Doctors did not seem to relieve me. One day my druggist got me to try Maier's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now as good as new." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. adv.

Europeans Have Learned Not To Try To Compete With Cow As Vegetarian

Small Per Capita Consumption Of Dairy Products In America Indicates Either Ignorance Or High Prices

BY W. F. WINSEY

According to U. L. Russell, dean of Wisconsin College of Agriculture, the per capita consumption of cheese in Switzerland is 26 pounds and the per capita consumption of milk in Europe, an countries runs as high as 63 gallons but in the United States the per capita consumption of milk is only 19 gallons and cheese only 3.5 pounds.

Some one has said that the life work of the hog and the cow is to turn raw vegetable and mineral matter into concentrated, wholesome foods, fitted for digestion and rapid assimilation by the human body.

"The truth of this assertion may be found in the fact that the hog feeds on raw grain, grass, roots and mineral matter, collected from a wide area, and converts them into delectable pork chops, bacon and ham which are concentrated foods more easily digested than are the items in the diet of the hog. The cow feeds upon grass, hay, and raw grain and some mineral matter, containing food elements needed but not digestible in the human stomach in the form that the cow devours them, and converts them into such concentrated human food as milk, cheese, butter, veal and beef.

The work these animals do for the human race in the conversion of raw food elements, into perfect, easily digested, nutritious foods, proves that they are the most wonderful food making machines in operation in the world.

HAVE PROPER SYSTEM

Because the Englishman knows what the cow and the hog are doing for him and because he has no time, no appetite, and no apparatus to convert the articles in the ration of these animals into food that he needs, and because he takes a short cut to food elements he has given other nations the occasion to dub him a "beef eater." Because the Hollanders and the Swiss know the primary facts about animal foods and use such foods, they have given other nations the occasion to dub them "cheese presses" and "milk sops." But it is really better to suffer whatever ignominy those titles convey than it is to compete with the cow and the hog in the collection and preparation of food for digestion and assimilation in the human body.

As beef eaters and pork eaters and cheese eaters and milk drinkers, the people of the United States, although they are the greatest dairy and meat producers on earth, do not compare, as has been said, with the English, Swiss and Hollanders. In other words, the people of the United States tax their health and their stomachs with the performance of debilitating, digestive functions that the people of the old world long years ago entrusted to the hog and the cow. That means that the people of Europe long ago emerged from the vegetarian age but the people of the United States are still in it.

BIG DAIRY WEALTH

How much the people of the United States are doing in the preparation of dairy foods for those who know enough to eat them, is shown in the fact that the total farm value of dairy products in the United States according to Mr. Russell, was $2,600,000,000, which is nearly twice as much as the value of corn, our leading field crop and over three times as much as the value of all the wheat grown in the country. The twenty odd million dairy cows in America are distributed upon a half million farms and exceed in value all other classes of livestock. They are a source of over one-fourth of our beef and veal in addition to the more important product. The aggregate value of all the food products obtained annually from our dairy animals is nearly $30 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

"In 1921 the United States per capita butter consumption was 16 pounds while Canada has reached 28 pounds back in 1914," Mr. Russell continued. Switzerland uses nearly 20 pounds of cheese per capita each year while the United States consumption is only 3.5 pounds. Nevertheless a survey made in 1918 showed that already one-fifth of the money spent for food in this country goes for dairy products. Of this one-third went for butter, about one-half for fluid milk, and smaller amounts for cream, cheese and other products.

"The American dairy farmer is learning that his profits are dependent upon efficient production and already the average production of a Lethier herd is equalling that of Holland and Switzerland whose achievements have long stood as the ultimate in dairy production."

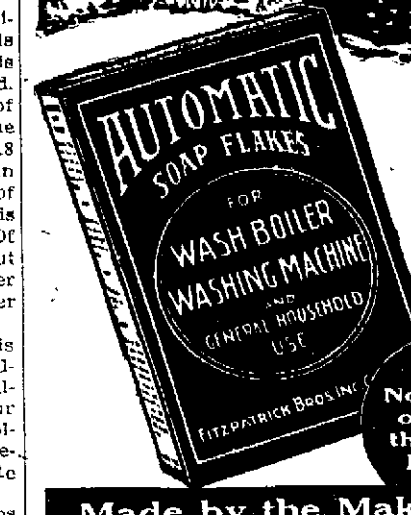

But aside from the advance strides

LAKE COTTAGE THIEVES SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Superior—Vandals whose practice has been to break into summer homes at the various lakes in Douglas county were given an impressive warning here, when Judge Archibald McKay gave state terms to three members of a gang which entered summer homes at Solon Springs. Everett Golden was given a year, Arthur Linton, a year, and Ben Ridgeaway, 18 months. Christ Olson, confessed leader of the gang, was sentenced to three years in prison a week ago. The quartet pleaded guilty to robbery charges.

We have made in dairy production and the enormous value of our total production, we are still behind the "beef eaters" and "milk sops" and "cheese presses" of other nations in the consumption of animal products. Whether the cause of the low comparative consumption of milk and other dairy products by the people of the United States is ignorance of food values, a national determination to compete with the cow in collecting and turning vegetation into food fit for the human stomach, or whether our system of distribution of dairy products is so expensive that people of moderate means are forced to limit their orders for cream, milk and cheese, Mr. Russell does not inform us. But whatever the cause of our low consumption is, some day it will be uncovered and removed.

URGE STRICTER LAWS TO GOVERN TRAFFIC

Highway Engineer Points Out Perils Caused By Heavy Traffic

By Associated Press
Madison—More rigid enforcement of state traffic laws, both in cities and rural districts was urged by N. M. Isabella, maintenance engineer of the state highway department, addressing the annual Wisconsin Road school here Thursday.

"The amazing increase in motor vehicle has created many new problems," Mr. Isabella declared. "As a result of this amazing increase in traffic, there is a universal demand for all-year roads, which has revolutionized the science of road building; there must be constant patrol maintenance to conserve the roads; there must be marking to guide the travelers."

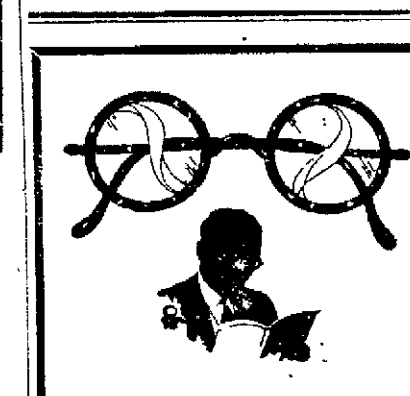

"The volume of traffic has become so great that we must develop state-wide traffic regulations. The enforcement of rules of traffic must be, for the present, in the hands of local officials. In the interest of human life and human safety, Wisconsin must develop a more rigid enforcement of the traffic laws, not only in the cities and

TEN NEW PUPILS JOIN RELIGIOUS DAY SCHOOL

The first semester of Appleton's religious day school closed last week. A report card system is carried out in this school as in the graded schools. The cards were distributed at the end of the semester. Ten new pupils have registered for the new semester. The teachers association of the school met at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon in the All Saints church. Dr. John Denyes and J. E. Denison were elected to membership and a new treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Wagner, was chosen. The president is Charles E. Lease; vice president, Mrs. H. K. Pratt; secretary, Miss Marie Finger. ## JOHN L. LEWIS AND THE COAL PROBLEM

John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, in his biennial report expressed the hope that a wage agreement between the miners and the operators, covering a period of years, could be reached without a strike or suspension of production. He holds that this would be of constructive help in restoring stability to industry and would be a boon to the coal-wearied public.

Continuing, he said: "Were such an arrangement possible, it would demonstrate to the consuming public that the industry itself was making a sincere attempt to place its house in order. Such a policy, if carried out, would eliminate the necessity for coal legislation by the federal congress or the various state legislatures. I am not one of those who believe that the enactment of arbitrary legislation will prove to be a panacea for every mal-administration of industry, or that economic laws can be set aside by the sweep of a legislative pen."

All of which is decidedly to the point. Now let the operators and miners come out and put their cards on the table. Let the miners be paid a good wage and their working conditions made all that they should be in an industry of that kind. Let an agreement be made for say three or five years on terms that are absolutely fair to the miners and let the operators charge a price for coal, based on the economies that would result from continuous production, a stabilized industry and a steady market, and the problem will be nine-tenths solved. If the public feels that the price is exorbitant, that matter can be independently investigated by the government and gone into with such thoroughness as will show whether the operators and distributors are making an undue profit. This will be worth more than all the work done by the United States Coal commission, which thus far has contributed nothing toward a practical settlement of the fuel problem.

Mr. Lewis' statement that arbitrary legislation is no panacea for industrial troubles, and that economic laws cannot be "set aside by the sweep of a legislative pen," will not be lost upon those who are being harangued by politicians up and down the country with foolish promises and proposals to establish a short cut to economic justice and prosperity by quack legislative remedies.

A THIRTY-CENT COMMITTEE

Probably the biggest farce ever undertaken in congress is the investigation of propaganda for the Bok peace plan. It is a silly attempt to put the League of Nations and its advocates on the rack. The senators would not care anything about the Bok peace plan if the award had not gone to a proposal that incorporated some phase of the League. The senatorial inquisitors are afraid of public opinion. Their hair stands on end whenever anyone mentions international cooperation. The proposition that an individual or an organization has no right to attempt to influence or crystallize public opinion in favor of an idea carries us back to the alien and sedition laws. When Mr. Bok took the stand he made the committee look like 30 cents, and it probably will be willing to sell itself as an investigating body for less than that when it gets through with its tomfoolery.

Many of those who have opposed the League of Nations have talked much about "some better plan" which they would be willing to support. They have tried to make the public believe that they would like to substitute a more effective and more practical method for securing world peace. That they have been dishonest or indiscreet is shown by the fact that they have not brought forward any other plan, nor even a suggestion of a plan. Mr. Bok at the close of his testimony turned the tables on these masqueraders by offering to give another $100,000 for any peace plan that would be approved by the propaganda investigating committee. That is a challenge it cannot very well ignore. If it really wants to do something to promote peace it should accept his offer and at least show its good faith.

COOLIDGE AND THE FARMERS

President Coolidge puts the star reformers and the political mountebanks on the run with his message to congress proposing sensible and practical relief of the agricultural situation in the northwest. Mr. Coolidge is a farmer himself, he has been in touch with farm life and farm problems all his career and this gives added weight to his recommendations.

The president shows in his message that he possesses intimate knowledge of conditions in the northwest. He evidently is basing his proposals on an investigation of the facts which has been conducted by reliable men. He knows that the farmer is in a bad way there, he knows just how bad, and he knows what his needs are.

In brief, the president's remedy is to refund the past due obligations of the farmers, help the impaired banks back to their feet, create a financing corporation to assist in a plan of reorganization, extend the time during which the War Finance corporation can make loans and to attempt through federal agencies to interest commercial and banking institutions in cooperating with the farmers in ways which he specifically outlines. Mr. Coolidge wants the farmers in the northwest to take up diversified farming instead of confining their crops to wheat. He wants them to work out their own problems, provided they are given temporary assistance which will permit them to do so without the pressure of creditors and the danger of foreclosure.

The president's plan will strike every successful business man and farmer as being eminently practical. It is exactly the kind of measure that is necessary to put agriculture back on a proper footing in that portion of the country. It is worth all of the political remedies put together that have been proposed by the radical visionaries hailing from that district. Mr. Coolidge may be relied upon to help the farmers if his recommendations are followed, together with his advice. So far as governmental policies enter into the matter, he is the farmer's best bet by all odds.

LONG LONG AGO

Night-riders, attention: Tarring-and-feathering was invented by Richard Coeur-de-Lion, king of England, about 750 years ago. He ordered that any sailor convicted of theft should "have his head clipped and hot pitch poured upon his pate, and upon that the feathers of some pillow or cushion shaken aloft."

You use the expression. "That's a feather in his cap." Do you know what it means? Some 500 years or more ago, the Hungarians had a custom by which a man could not wear a feather in his cap unless he had killed a Turk. A feather for every Turk, like notches on a gun.

In 1791 French slanders coined an expression, "What will the frogs say to this?" It spread like wildfire, the public applying it to all ridiculous or absurd proposals. That is the origin of calling the French "Frogs."

In olden times, when a man lost his right arm in battle he was so incapacitated that he had to have a servant accompany him to take the place of the lost hand. This originated the saying, "He's my right-hand man."

Heels were put on shoes to prevent a horseman's foot slipping in the stirrup. Buttons on the coat cuff date back to Frederick the Great, who put sharp buttons there to stop soldiers using their cuffs as handkerchiefs. The wedding ring originally symbolized a chain.

So it goes. Thousands of the things we use and things we say and do are remnants of a long-forgotten past. Habit keeps them alive, even though their real meaning is as obscure as their origin.

A coal dealer leads a hard life. Imagine being a coal dealer without laughing yourself to death.

One thing to be said for winter is shirts stay clean longer.

THAT THUMP THUMP

Our last talk about the heart was a huge success. I think anybody can make to get an idea of the functional efficiency of his circulation. The fifth test was a talapaloca. It consisted in running quickly up two flights of stairs and observing the effect on your pulse. The effect, normally, is of course an increase of 20 to 25 beats to the minute. Now again you should feel the heart beating more forcibly, thump-thump, against your ribs until the pulse rate has about reached the normal resting rate. I always give this test last, for if one happened to have some affliction as an aneurism, one might not come downstairs again.

Thump thump is worth considering more in detail. It has considerable significance. In the first place, it is the normal reaction to such a test, and not the pathological symptoms some folk suppose. The stronger heart action after a sudden effort, with the pulse rate slowing down to or near normal, is due to the capacity of the heart to rest and to a normal reaction with increased action. If you get this reaction from the test, it doesn't matter even if you have a valvular leakage, you may rest assured you have a thoroughly efficient heart, which will carry you through life if you use it well. A normal reaction to this test, which, by the way, is due to a normal reaction with increased action, is quite a significant thing. The sounds heard with the stethoscope give the physician some little idea of the state of the heart and the valves, but irrespective of any murmurs or alterations of the normal heart sounds, such a test as the double staircase test tells what a heart is capable of doing; that is the important thing to know in any case.

Estimated or gauged from this modern physiological viewpoint, which affords a clearer understanding of heart disease than was possible from the old anatomical viewpoint, it is pertinent to say that many a heart is better than it sounds. Many a heart that is normal in many a victim of heart disease suffers only in his imagination, which has been twisted away. Many a near invalid, who sports a "weak heart" that "can't stand" this or that effort or excitement, has nothing whatever the matter with his heart. In fact, nine times out of 10 the "weak heart" is somebody's ally. Doctor's or patient's. I say the individual who harbors that belief generally harbors a mere obsession. In the great majority of cases, when the heart really is weak—which means, of course, diseased—the victim does not ascribe his impaired health to his heart at all, does not suspect that his heart is weak, until a physician seems to belittle the diagnostic acumen of the older physicians, for perhaps they had more skill than we have today. But certainly they erred grievously in many cases when they deduced "weak heart" from a mere stethoscopic examination, unconfirmed by any functional exercise.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Probably Not Patentable

We have a recipe for medicine to cure mercury. For 15 years we have given it to people without charge and many have testified that it has cured them of mercury. We would like to get a patent on it. Can you suggest how to go about it, to prevent any one from stealing the formula?—E. N. J. I never do not understand what you mean by curing mercury. Unless the remedy is really a new discovered substance it is doubtful whether you could obtain a patent on it. Practically none of the so-called "patent medicines" are patented, or patentable, because they are not original discoveries but mere mixtures or concoctions of old familiar medicines with a registered trade mark. Then nobody can steal the name, though you can't prevent any one from using the same formula or recipe.

Lime Water

Please tell me how to prepare lime water for use in preparing modified milk for my 6 months old baby.—Mrs. H. Van H. Answer: Put a piece of unslaked lime the size of a walnut in two quarts of boiled water in an earthen jar, stir it thoroughly and then allow it to settle. Pour off the clear fluid into a bottle. That is lime water. More water may be added to the lime to make more lime water. It is not necessary to use lime water in modifying milk for a baby over 3 months old. ## THE MODERN MAIDEN

Skies may reveal their beauty
At the setting of the sun;
Rippling waters may at dawn
Reveal the beauty of the earth.
From early morn till late at night
In the whirl of every day,
We can find our maiden hiding
Behind the hectic rouge and clay.
While standing in a lobby,
Or taking letters too,
They have a certain hobby
That grandma wouldn't do.
As beautiful as they make 'em
Are the American girls today;
Still that handy powder puff, it seems,
Has come with them to stay.

Bet you a postage stamp that "S" stands for Sophie or Sophomore and that the writer is another old-fashioned girl who refuses to have her hair bobbed so that she may preserve her womanly charm for her distant wooer.

How are you going to expect us to write 1924 on our letters when automobiles continue to display 1923 license plates? You've got to look pretty hard to find the 1924 plates even though they are "black on white." We threw one of our eyes out of joint yesterday when we glimpsed a black and white sign. Even at that the owner of it is next door to the police station, so it doesn't mean much.

Society Item

What promises to be one of the most charming of the many delightful affairs scheduled for the spring social season is a rumored meeting between John Lompey and Thomas Gibbons.

Human Lives Put on Ice

Seems a matter of course that Wisconsin should hold a high rank among the healthiest states in the Union. But why should a magazine list Kansas first and Wisconsin second? Life is not longer in Kansas; it only seems longer. The reason why they live so long in the Badger state, is because of our cold storage climate, so A. C. the stenographer avers. All we have to say is that our head writer anticipated this when, after reading the story about the drunkard picked up out of the snow bank by Appleton policemen, he wrote "MAN SAVED FROM DEATH BY FREEZING."

Now we have
With us
The first signs
Of spring.
The seed catalogs

To come in.

ROLLO.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE WORLD

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

That the Washington administration is somewhat on the side of the Mexican rebels isn't disputed. By most Americans it seems to be agreed that it's a pretty good government, fighting some pretty bad rebels. Yet the administration's considerably criticized in Congress for taking any side whatever. This isn't on the ground that its example of side-taking may be imitated some time, some place, when and where the situation's merits are different.

AFTER THE REBELS.

To get at rebel bands he hopes to destroy, President Obregon is sending troops through this country from northwestern to northeastern Mexico. There's no railroad on his side of the border. On this side there is. The Washington administration gave its permission, and so did the governors of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

AMERICANS THREATENED

United States warships have been sent to Tampico, where the rebels control. There are hints at the possible use of marines to protect American interests, should they be interfering with the free movement of the warships' presence will serve as a sufficient warning.

JUST A STRAW

The fact that New York got the Democratic convention doesn't necessarily mean much in connection with the presidential nomination. Still, the choice of a convention city generally is regarded as weighing a little. If New York's success counts at all, politicians consider it a point in favor of an eastern candidate.

CAN'T DO MUCH

Though the British government's on the very verge of passing, for the first time in history, into the hands of a Labor premier—Ramsay MacDonald—he can't do anything very radical. His followers are in a minority in Parliament. He won't be able to make a move except with the Liberal's help. The minute he goes to any extreme the Liberals will desert the Laborites, MacDonald will go out of office automatically and there will have to be another election.

GERMAN FINANCES

As head of the financial experts' committee in trying to make German money worth something to put the Berlin government on a money-saving basis and then to get Germany to paying war damages, Charles G. Dawes is hurrying matters in Paris until Europe's head sums. But the question remains: Will France agree to any plan likely to help Germany?—Isn't it Germany's ruin she wants, more than her money? Time will answer.

U. S. Gold Worth

Less Than Butter

(From The Wisconsin Farmer.) That the whole United States mines less gold than Wisconsin does, butter in a year is unique, if somewhat rhetorical, way of expressing a fact, according to a study of statistics announced by David Atwood, state printing editor. Mr. Atwood declares that the products of all the gold mines in the United States in 1921, for instance, was not enough to pay Wisconsin farmers for the butter they produced that year.

Q. How many post offices are there in the world? N. C.

A. The Post Office Department says that there are 266,008 post offices in the world, and in all these a letter will be given the same treatment; that is, according to the size of post office.

Q. How many railroads enter New York City and New Orleans? M. D.

A. Fourteen railroads enter New York City and thirteen railroads enter New Orleans. There are 72 steamship companies in New York City and 46 in New Orleans.

Q. What causes knots in boards? D. R. II.

A. They are the result of branches which extend from the center of the tree to the outside. After a branch has died and its cambium living wood grows over the old piece of branch, a knot forms. All trees have abundant knots, but some clean themselves of their lower branches through rapid decay. When trees free themselves from branches readily, the knots are rapid, a good amount of clear lumber is formed.

Q. Where was Sheridan when he took the famous 20-mile ride? R. W.

A. Sheridan's famous ride was from Winchester to Cedar Creek, Va. General Sheridan was returning from Washington, and had reached Winchester when the fighting began. He hastened to the front, and turned a disastrous rout into a brilliant victory. It furnished the theme for the familiar poem "Sheridan's Ride" by T. Buchanan Read.

Q. Did President Washington ever live in the White House? J. M. C.

A. George Washington was at no time an occupant of the White House. The structure was commenced in 1792, but not completed until 1801, when it was first occupied by John Adams.

Aztecs Studied
Lore Of Stardom

(Walter Teich, in Harper's.)

The symbol of Mexico might well be the pyramid that most unshakable of forms which the ancient Mexicans like the Egyptians, who are suggested in Mexico again and again, used in every kind of religious ceremony. An artificial mountain, a quarter of a mile long on each of its four sides, solidly built of adobe, bricks and faced with concrete.

It is not a burial place like the Egyptian pyramids—the largest of which is not half as broad at the base as the longest of the pyramids, though of greater height—it is a pedestal lifting up toward the stars the Mexican temple, whose chief function, again, is to permit the study of the stars.

Telescopes were unknown, but in each temple a deep well, the place of our more perfect instrument, and night and day, for thousands of years, the priests kept watch from their points of vantage and wrote down their findings.

As we progress in ability to decipher such of their records as have come down to us, the profundity of their knowledge becomes more astonishing. The movements of the heavenly bodies had been calculated with an accuracy that included not only the use of leap years but the elimination of a day every 400 years to correct the excessive slow-down of the year we make in giving to every fourth year an extra period of 24 hours.

The observers of the Sun-calendar and the Venus-calendar, the two principal objects of study, gave rise to theories of number of which we are now learning only the rudiments. But we know enough to say that among none of the people of antiquity did the laws derived from astronomy and mathematics play a greater role. The number of steps leading to a temple, its proportions and the precise learning of the motions of the sun (which in Mexico is always more or less connected with religion), are all symbolic things, exactly determined by priestly calculation.

Womans Club And Valley Mill Owners Cooperate In Industrial Pageant

Appleton manufacturers are cooperating with Appleton Womans club and the Chicago Recreation Training school in preparing for the big industrial dramatic program which will be presented at Lawrence Memorial chapel on April 23 and 24. A budget of $1,800 has been underwritten for the womans club and the Chicago school by Fox river valley manufacturer, including Appleton Woolen Mills, Appleton Superior Knitting Co., Appleton Coated Paper Co., Standard Manufacturing Co., Tuttle Press Co., Appleton Wireworks, Patten Paper Co., Combining Lacks Paper Co., Appleton Wood Products Co., Appleton Chair Co., Zwickler Knitting Co., Graef Manufacturing Co., Kimberly-Clark Co., the Interlake Athletic Association, Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Fox River Valley Knitting Co., and Riverside Fibre and Paper Co. Others are considering the project.

VISIT MANUFACTURERS
Miss Charlotte B. Cohrpenning, who is head of the dramatic department of the recreation school and under whose direction the program will be given, came to Appleton two weeks ago to talk over the presentation with the manufacturers who were favorably impressed. Miss E. L. Guernsey, also of the recreation school is in Appleton on Friday and Saturday to visit the various industries to make sketches for costumes and properties that will be used.

The presentation will be in the nature of a variety program with vaudeville, episode, short one-act plays, songs, dances and tableaux all of which will have a bearing on the industries which make the Fox river valley a manufacturing center. These will be given with no waits between and a three curtain stage will be used. The combination of the Appleton club, the valley manufacturers and the Chicago school make the project one of unusual interest. Mrs. Cohrpenning has had a great deal of experience with industrial pageants of various kinds but she prefers the more lively and quick moving presentation which will be used in Appleton. She is writing most of the material for the production herself and will be assisted by Miss Guernsey.

USE LOCAL TALENT
Students of the school will design the costumes and properties as well as act out the tableaux and study the dances so that they will be sure of the effect. The cast for the performance, however, will include several hundred local persons representing many interests in the valley. Committees which will have charge of all the local part of the presentation will be named within a few days.

As soon as the variety is far enough along for rehearsals, Mrs. Cohrpenning will come to Appleton to get the project started. Students from the school will be in Appleton to direct the rehearsals but Miss M. A. Chandler, who is a graduate of the school and several local people will do a great deal of the preliminary directing Mrs. Cohrpenning plans to return to Appleton to produce the program.

The theme of the entire production will be the romance and meaning of the various industries. These will be worked out in tableaux which will be presented in tableaux frames at the back of the chapel stage, in one-act plays which will be presented on the main stage and in songs and dances which will be presented on the apron of the stage.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
An application for license to marry was filed Thursday in the office of the county clerk by Leonard McCabe of the town of Kaukauna and Martha Wilhouse of the town of Freedom.

CONTEST WILL WHICH NAMES FONDY PASTOR

Fond du Lac—The Rev. W. P. Leek, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church, and until last fall at the time of his election, pastor of the Division Street M. E. church, was named the central figure in a group which, according to a document filed in Probate court Thursday afternoon, "exerted undue influence" upon Miss Ella Antoinette Schafer in the execution of her will.

The testament which is filed for probate on Feb. 3 disposes of a $30,000 estate. Mr. Leek is one of the chief beneficiaries, having been awarded his choice of Miss Schafer's house and lot on the fashionable east side, or $5,000 in cash.

Miss Nina Esch of Milwaukee, a nurse who attended Miss Schafer for several weeks prior to her death, is given $6,000. Ida Butler of Wauwatosa is given $3,000. Elsie Maunier of Chicago is given $2,000 and $1,000 is bequeathed to Nina Clark of Long Beach, Cal., and a like amount to Mrs. Lena Nelmer of Fond du Lac.

Miss Sarah Schafer sister of the dead woman who filed the objection to probate of the will, was bequeathed but $1,000. The residue of the estate, with the exception of a few smaller bequests and gifts to institutions, was given to the board of trustees of the Division street Methodist church of which the Rev. Mr. Leek is head.

Four causes are cited by Miss Schafer for her objections. That the will was not executed according to law is one. That at the time of the drawing up of the testament the deceased woman was of unsound mind is another. Then follows the charge that the execution of the will was procured through the undue influence of the Rev. Mr. Leek and others at his direction, and the fourth cause is that the will was not the uninfluenced and free act of Miss Ella Schafer.

The will stipulates that anyone protesting it shall be cut off as a beneficiary.

The B. P. O. Elks of Kaukauna

Presents the Most Costly, Elaborate and Perfectly Staged Local Production Ever Made in the State

"THE LITTLE LADY"

Books and Lyrics by J. A. DARNABY

Music by ANNE SAUNDERS DARNABY

Dances and Ballets by Miss Helen Runyan.

Staged under the personal direction of J. A. Darnaby.

Orchestra directed by Miss Runyan.

Scenery by Sosman and Landis.

Costumes by Lester, Chicago.

Lighting Effects by Chicago Stage Lightnig Company.

SPECIAL NOTE. Only twice in six years has any organization been able to secure the services of Mr. Darnaby to stage a local production. The Elks have given no thought to expense, the services of Mr. Darnaby and his assistant costing many times that of the ordinary director staging local shows. It is the desire of the Elks of Kaukauna to make of their annual event, something more than a mere money making project. Come over Appleton Elks and all other lovers of good entertainment and we will assure you an evening of real pleasure. A little visit, a get together meeting and a manifestation of the spirit of Elkdom will not hurt the Appleton or Kaukauna Lodge one bit. It may help Elkdom a lot.

The following criticism of the work by J. A. Darnaby was recently made by Fred High, former associate editor of the Billboard and now one of, if not the most successful lecturer and best posted man in this country on community upbuilding:

"It is a generally accepted fact in the world of entertainment that a spectacle, an exposition, a musical comedy, local or professional, staged by and under the personal direction of J. A. Darnaby is worth seeing. A half million dollar exposition or an amateur production is handled with the same conscientious care."

Lonesome Boy In Hospital Seeks Letters

Leo P. Maggert, a former service man, has become lonesome during his confinement in the United States naval hospital at Philadelphia, and so he hit upon a means of getting acquainted particularly with members of the other sex.

He wrote to Appleton Post-Crescent asking for a chance to correspond with girls of this city which he understands is noted for its "many intelligent and beautiful young ladies." He is convalescing at the hospital after a long siege of pneumonia. Time hangs heavily upon him and will not give him time to entertain him by writing to him, he asks. He admits he is no "sheik," but just a plain everyday man of good regular habits and moral standing. He says he is prejudiced against sea-port towns.

$50,000 PAID TO DAIRY PATRONS

Hassinger And Collar Are Elected At Potts-Wood & Co. Meeting

Approximately $50,000 was paid to patrons of Potts-Wood Co. creamery at Greenville during the year 1923 according to reports submitted at the annual meeting of patrons at Greenville Wednesday evening. Edward Hassinger was elected secretary and Lucius Collar treasurer.

Total amount of milk delivered to the creamery was 2,531,105 pounds for the year; the report showed. This represented total butterfat of 91,904.9 pounds with a general average test of 35.63 per cent fat. Payments to farmers for milk amounted to $48,572.36. The average price per pound of butter fat was 52.82-100 cents and the average price paid for each hundred pounds of milk was $1.58. Checks for skim milk totaled $1,658.47.

WHITE BASS FISHING SPOILED BY NEW LAW

Anglers will not be permitted to use hook and line fishing in the Fox river or Lake Winnebago between March 1 and June 1, according to an interpretation of the statutes as changed by the last legislature. Unless efforts now being made by fishermen of the valley to bring about a solution of the problem are successful, fishermen will be deprived of the principal fishing season in the spring of each year.

It has been learned that the last state legislature has made it unlawful for a fisherman to catch a meal of fish out of the Fox river or the big lake during the period between March 1 and June 1. They will be violating the law if they take advantage of the annual "run" of white bass which starts along in April and annually brings out hundreds of anglers from Appleton and vicinity. This is the best time of the year, as the fish usually start their annual migration to the headwaters of the Wolf river in April and May. Vigorous protests are expected from sportsmen all over the Fox river valley.

Exemption provisions for Green, Winnebago and Juneau counties were made in this respect for any variety except trout, black bass and sturgeon by the legislature in 1915, but last year these provisions were repealed. Former Assemblyman Hart of Oshkosh, author of the bill in 1915, has written the conservation commission requesting information on the subject, especially as to what may be done to get around the situation.

Work For Lumbermen
C. L. Boynton, employment secretary of the Y. M. C. A., sent five men Thursday to the lumber camps at Neopit, Menominee Indian reservation, four Saturday, and four the day previous. He has a call still for several more. Transportation is furnished.

TIPS FOR TAXPAYERS

Taxpayers, in the preparation of their 1923 income-tax returns, should note carefully the distinction between business expenses and capital expenditures. Business expenses are deductible, but a capital expenditure may not be. For example, a manufacturer may erect a new building at a cost of $100,000 and spend on it during the year $500 for repairs, such as painting the roof, replacing broken windows, etc. The cost of the incidental repairs may be deducted, but the cost of the building is a capital investment, which is not deductible.

Articles that will last more than a year purchased for use in business, trade, or profession are considered capital investments. These include books bought by a lawyer, a physician, or other professional man, a surgeon's instruments, an expressman's truck, or a farmer's tractor. Even when used wholly in carrying on a business, trade, or profession, the purchase price of an automobile is not deductible. If used partly for business and partly for pleasure and convenience, the cost of upkeep, gasoline, repairs, etc., may be apportioned accordingly and that part attributable to business purposes deducted as a business expense.

Necessary expenses incurred in the maintenance of property leased to others may be deducted by the owner. These include premiums on fire insurance policies, the cost of water, light, heat, janitor services, and minor repairs.

Quick, Watson!

Another mystery! Big prizes are offered to the people who solve the deep mysteries contained in a series of short detective stories soon to appear in The Sunday Milwaukee Journal—get full particulars in The Journal—Sunday, January 27.

Y. M. C. A. CONSIDERS WORK IN MADISON

J. G. Rosebush of Appleton is one of the principal speakers listed in the program of the forty-fifth convention of the Young Men's Christian association of Wisconsin, at Madison on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Among other speakers are Dr. Cleland A. McAfee of Chicago, Dr. N. V. Henderson of Madison, W. J. Parker of Chicago, E. L. Shuey of Dayton. One of the principal matters of business will be the report of the commission appointed several months ago for the purpose of receiving the conditions of the University Y. M. C. A. at Madison and making recommendations for the future of the institution.

Needs of the university Y. M. C. A. will be explained and a survey of past work done will be brought to the attention of the conference. It is possible that some of the recommendations will call for a complete new program of activities of the association toward the university unit. This may call for new housing facilities and the possible erection of a new building.

Mr. Rosebush is one of the members of the Wisconsin Y. M. C. A. Harwood is vice president of the state association, and both he and Mr. Rosebush are state directors.

What's the Difference?

You Might As Well Lose It There As In Your Motor

NO indifferent standing around if you caught an eighth or a quarter of your gas leaking away between the pump and your tank. You'd kick for the full paid-for measure or know the reason why not.

But just as certainly as your rightful power and mileage would escape from a gashed hose, just as surely carelessly bought gas robs you in the hidden zone between carburetion and delivery of the power stroke in your motor.

The rough elements of free carbon and dull, unexplosive kerosene that pad out its puny strength to full gallon appearance, are dead loss—and worse—when their unconverted mischief clogs your valves, drags at your power and menaces the safety of your oil supply.

—has no hidden leaks. Every paid-for drop registers in full-volumed power in your motor. There are no damaging residues of gritty carbon, no drench of unvaporized, unburnable kerosene to make starting difficult, power delivery feeble and dilution of oil supply a danger-fraught certainty. Because it yields greater power on a thinner mixture, it costs no more than "cheap" fuels by the mile, and it saves infinitely more in final economy.

BRITAIN'S LABOR PARTY HOLDS BALANCE OF POWER

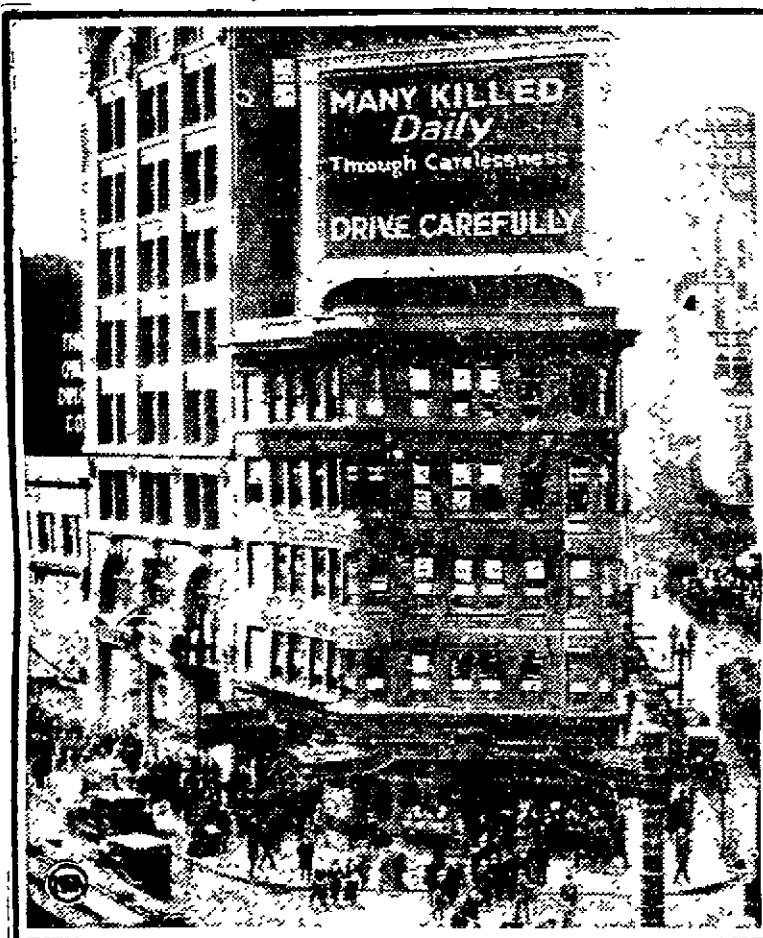

Three killed and 11 seriously injured when these fast trains piled up on a blind siding near Millerton, Tex. The terrific impact hurled boilers from the engines which met in head-on death grip, and strewn a mass of twisted debris upon the tracks.

At the busiest corner of the city it stands as a reminder that carelessness is the chief cause of accidental death. ## 129 ENTRIES IN CORN AND GRAIN SHOW IN ARMORY

Exhibits Of Alfalfa And Corn Exceptionally Good, Farm Agent Says

A total of 129 entries have been made in the corn and grain show now in progress in Armory G in connection with the Fox River Poultry and Pet Stock association show.

Among the outstanding exhibits are the bundles of alfalfa hay and the Golden Glow corn. This is to be expected from a dairy community where alfalfa is the chief object of concern, according to R. A. Amundsen, who is chairman of the committee in charge. Wisconsin No. 12, or "Golden Glow" corn is considered the best silage corn for this community. This, with good alfalfa-hay, as exhibited at the show, makes a cow feed that produces milk. There are, but few, outstanding samples of grain and potatoes. Most of the exhibits show a lack of interest in these crops, although they are considered important in a dairy community.

POTATOES MISNAMED
Many of the potatoes shown are misnamed, for which the seed companies are responsible. Such names as "Early Surprise," "Mortgage Lifters," "Bounteous Harvest," etc., are usually the same standard variety like the Rural New Yorkers, Early Ohio, Early Rose, or Resnet Burbanks.

Nick Paltzer, Route 5, Appleton, has the largest exhibit in the show with thirteen different exhibits. First prize on Golden Glow corn goes to Ora Breitrick of Ellington. First prize on alfalfa hay was won by Oscar Forbeck of Appleton.

Middle Road Is Best Way To Happiness, Says Anton Lang, "Christ" Of Oberammergau

ANTON LANG, THE CHRISTUS OF OBERAMMERGAU

Cleveland, O. — "To the middle of with abundance, or long privation, the mind forsakes God."

PROHIBITION IS EXTREME
"That is why extremes are bad. Your prohibition is an extreme. It does not balance well with justice or the middle road."

"I speak to you only as a man. Not as a clergyman nor theologian. I am merely Anton Lang. To represent Christ on the cross I am, most unworthy."

"But when you ask it is hard to follow in Jesus' footsteps, I say to you it is not. If the mind and heart are willing and there is love between men."

"Yes, the middle road is the best road. It leads to God and happiness. Some day the world will get back upon it. It is with hope that we of Oberammergau, who try in our poor way to send Christ's message to the world, look forward to such a thing."

"Extremists may say that the world and its young are headed for ruin but this is only as extremists see it. They are not upon the middle road."

SHUNS DEMONSTRATION
Lang and his Passion Play companions are exhibiting their piety and woodcarving to Americans. They seek funds to save Oberammergau and its people from starvation, and thus save the Passion Play an Oberammergau institution since 1633.

Some preternatural strength seems to animate this man, who in recent actment translated to the modern world the sufferings of Christ week after week, by dangling from the cross for 20 excruciating minutes.

Constant portrayal of the Savior has left a deeply religious and unaffected air about him which even the most casual observer immediately senses.

But Anton Lang is not conscious of this. Though magnetic and charming, his personality, he disdains mawkish display sometimes demonstrated by those impassionately devout who have in times past sought to kiss his garment's hem.

Hotel management, he has petitioned to cut the portions of his food. "It is unbecomingly," he remonstrates, "always unbecomingly."

"And it is not good. For it is not the middle way."

"Always the middle way is the best way," he averred. "Too much or too little works hardships, because,

Transition from meager fare in his own war-torn country to the unaccustomed luxury of ample abundance showered upon him in America, has shocked Lang's unprepared simplicity."

Perhaps at the time he might have been secretly reminding of the faithful "frau" and his brood of hungry kiddies tucked away in the sequestered hamlet across the sea.

But anyhow, in an English that clicked and halted under the striving self-consciousness of a limited vocabulary, this man from a village where Christ crucified is the exemplar of daily life, said the "unbecomingly" was not good.

BIG TICKET SALE FOR WELSH CONCERT

Appleton Lions club is hopeful that it will be able to buy outright the concert which the Rhonda chorus of Welsh singers will give in Lawrence Memorial chapel on Monday evening, Feb. 4. Whether the club will buy the concert or conduct it on a percentage basis depends upon the ticket sale which is progressing steadily.

Proceeds from the concert will go into the fund with which the club will purchase band instruments for Appleton senior and junior high schools. The club has pledged $1,000 by Sept. 1, 1924, for that purpose.

FOURTH DEGREE K. OF C. DISCUSS BOY PROBLEMS

George T. Prim and Thomas Ryan of Appleton spoke at the joint meeting of the Appleton and Green Bay fourth degree assembly, Knights of Columbus, at Green Bay Thursday night. The principal purpose of the meeting was discussion of boy problems. Other speakers were John J. Don'thaste and Henry Sutton of Green Bay. The meeting was preceded by a banquet at the Beaumont hotel.

TWO CARS DERAILED IN TWO RAILROAD ACCIDENTS

Two minor railroad accidents occurred Thursday, one at Appleton Junction and the other near College-ave crossing. In the former instance a passenger train backed into a loaded tank car, derailing it, while in the latter, and in the latter instance a freight car was derailed on a side-track by spreading rails.

Have You Piles?

Then You Have Something to Learn

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a swelling of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEM-ROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent, and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Schlicht Bros. today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you—it seldom fails. adv.

BANK WINS SUIT TO GET BACK PROTESTED TAXES

Officers of the Citizens National bank which has paid its taxes under protest and which has threatened to sue the city of Appleton for taxes which it has collected, have noted with interest that the National bank of Hartford has won its suit against the city of Hartford. The court decided that the law which permits the taxing of bank stock is unconstitutional.

J. J. Sherman, president, learned in Milwaukee where he had been on business that the Milwaukee banks had secured an injunction restraining the city from selling delinquent bank tax titles.

Mark Bellis of Wausau visited Appleton friends Thursday while on his way home from Oshkosh, where he attended a meeting of fair association officers of the state.

Railroads In Position To Improve Properties And Cut Rates In 1924

Babson Believes Big Expenditures For Rolling Stock Have Equipped Railroads To Handle Present Freight Volume

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—A Supreme court decision, a rapid increase in idle cars and rapid price advances in some railroad bonds during the last two weeks have tended to create much confusion regarding the railroad situation and the probable future of the roads during 1924. Since we are all affected by some phase of the railroad's activity — rates, purchasing policy, dividends — a n analysis of the situation is of more than passing interest. In a summary of his investigation, issued today, the statistician sees lighter traffic, lower rates but better results for many of the railroads in 1924.

"The recent ruling by the Supreme court on the recapture clause of the Transportation act changes the Interstate Commerce commission from a court of appeals to a board of directors," according to Mr. Babson. "The individual roads are no longer dependent units but part of one great transportation system. The rates set by the commission are supposed to allow the roads to make 5 1/2 per cent which return is, however, not guaranteed. If the figure of 6 per cent is exceeded, one half the balance goes to the commission to be used as a revolving fund for aiding the weaker roads at 6 per cent interest. At the same time consolidations have been legalized which change the whole aspect of the railroad situation."

NO STRONG INCENTIVE
"It is clear that there is little incentive for the strong road to make more than 5 1/2 per cent. Let us see what is likely to happen."

"General business activity in 1924 promises to continue about normal," the Babson report shows activity at 5 per cent above normal so there will be no great increase in freight tonnage. Recent rapid increases in idle car figures would suggest that we now have plenty of equipment and rolling stock to handle present volume. There certainly is no need for further increases along these lines.

"Railroad rates, both freight and passenger, should go no higher and a few provisions downward may be expected to the benefit of those affected. These developments will reduce gross income for the railroads but the loss will be offset in a considerable extent by the increased efficiency. The improved condition resulting from expenditures in 1923 will add this. For the past 18 months the railroads have been spending at the rate of a billion dollars a year for repairs and equipment. Last motion has been to their away with a large extent and their rails of operating cost to gross income should be better this year as a result." of the situation is of more than passing interest. In a summary of his investigation, issued today, the statistician sees lighter traffic, lower rates but better results for many of the railroads in 1924.

EXPENSE REDUCED
"Trying made the bulk of these necessary improvements this year."

"The recent ruling by the Supreme court on the recapture clause of the Transportation act changes the Interstate Commerce commission from a court of appeals to a board of directors," according to Mr. Babson. "The individual roads are no longer dependent units but part of one great transportation system. The rates set by the commission are supposed to allow the roads to make 5 1/2 per cent which return is, however, not guaranteed. If the figure of 6 per cent is exceeded, one half the balance goes to the commission to be used as a revolving fund for aiding the weaker roads at 6 per cent interest. At the same time consolidations have been legalized which change the whole aspect of the railroad situation."

NO STRONG INCENTIVE
"It is clear that there is little incentive for the strong road to make more than 5 1/2 per cent. Let us see what is likely to happen."

"General business activity in 1924 promises to continue about normal," the Babson report shows activity at 5 per cent above normal so there will be no great increase in freight tonnage. Recent rapid increases in idle car figures would suggest that we now have plenty of equipment and rolling stock to handle present volume. There certainly is no need for further increases along these lines.

will be relieved of a part of this expense in the future. It is probable that not less than half a billion, nor more than three quarters of a billion will be spent on such work this year. Practically all this expenditure will go into repairs in right-of-way, double tracking, extensions and permanent improvements rather than rolling stock.

"Roads making more than the return allowed will be induced to do one of two things. They will either plow the surplus back into permanent improvements, such as better terminals, facilities, or absorb weaker roads, wherever such merger will be of future advantage. Either way the bonds of the stronger roads are strengthened. In one case actual property is improved and tangible security increased. In the other, competitive advantage and increased future earning power is gained. Such developments together with the new theory of the transportation act argue well for the junior bonds of the sounder roads. But I do not see where either the new ruling or its anticipated effects will help rail bonds already in the highly speculative group. The bankrupt road is still bankrupt under the new ruling. It is the solvent road in need of funds to finance current operations and permanent improvements that will be helped most."

Mr. Babson finds that recent strength in railroad bonds is reflecting heavy buying by European investors who want to put their money in something American for greater safety and who look upon our railroads as an ideal investment.

"Probable developments during 1924," concluded the statistician, "indicate slightly lower rates and better service to the public; possibly smaller but better distributed profits for the roads; and a stronger position for the vast majority of investors holding railroad bonds."

BOSTON EXERCISES RECALL MOVE FOR FIRST POSTOFFICE

Populace Trooped To Ships To Get Mail Before Postal System Was Started

By Associated Press
Boston—Two hundred and eighty-four years ago the first postoffice in the United States was established in Boston, and the celebration of the anniversary this month recalled the manner of its founding.

It had been the custom in those days for the citizens of Boston to troop on board the packets which arrived from overseas in quest of letters and other tidings from England. That was all very well for a while, but as the population grew the habit became a nuisance to the skippers who objected to having their decks made impromptu delivery offices and the none too spacious quarters below crowded with men and women.

So the General Court (as the Massachusetts legislature always has been called) stepped in. In 1699 it ruled that Richard Fairbanks (on the site of whose home the Boston Globe building now stands) was to take charge of and distribute letters from abroad.

"For preventing the miscarriage of letters," the quaint order read, "and it is ordered that notice be given that Richard Fairbanks his house in Boston is the place appointed for all letters which are brought from beyond the seas, or are to be sent hither, are to be brought upon, and he is to take care that they be delivered or sent according to their directions and he is allowed for every such letter a penny."

John Winthrop was governor when Fairbanks was appointed. The latter had a permit to sell "wine and strong water," and over his bar the men of Boston slipped their ale and read their mail and talked of the tidings from far away.

Fairbanks acted as postmaster until 1877. In January, 1878, the General Court made provision for a domestic postal service, the carriers to be paid three-pence per mile for their services. Twenty years later the American Post Office was established and in 1895 a coach and mail service was begun between Boston and Hartford.

CONGRESS HOLDS BUSIEST SESSION SINCE 1912 CRISIS

Politics Leads To Confusion In Important Legislation At Washington

posed. The hour advocates are biding their time waiting for the tax bill to reach the floor of the house and senate where amendments can be tackled, debated and voted upon.

CONCERNED OVER FUTURE
Meanwhile Mr. Coolidge finds himself concerned not about the nominating campaign, but what will come after it. He has a fairly good start for the nomination. The "Coolidge Again" clubs are increasing in numbers. But the alarming phase of the political outlook lies in the fact that the agricultural regions, particularly the northwest, Mr. Coolidge's message to congress to provide machinery for financial relief for the farmers is designed, of course, to meet an economic emergency but it will have political effects. The west is restless. The Republican strength usually comes from that section. Congress, is a slow-moving body. Unless it acts promptly, Mr. Coolidge will hear most of the political resentment that inevitably follows. He is urging immediate action. Senators from Iowa says the state has come "six months too late." Administration officials do not think so. They feel that the various agencies of credit which can be provided will cure the situation and that as things improve in the agricultural belt, even slightly, prestige of the administration will not be vitally damaged. The northwest crisis is declared here to be spotty and not likely to become national.

Agriculture has been under a strain for some time. The administration has been at a loss how to solve the problem. Acute outbreaks of financial trouble have accelerated action. And this includes only a few of the problems of the moment. For important treaties are pending and appropriation bills always provide ground for debate. It's a busy winter this, in Washington.

Notice of Correction

There are rumors around that Juergenmeyer's bus was to blame for Krautkramer's bus going into the ditch at 7:15 Tuesday night at Kimberly. We wish to clear this matter to the public.

Juergenmeyer slowed up for the Kimberly highway sign, Krautkramer was back of Juergenmeyer, who started down hill approaching a curve and street car track. Krautkramer never slowed up but came right through at the high rate of speed and tried to pass at the curve but failed to do so and went into the ditch. adv.

Drifts Hold Train Here Three Hours

Three engines were required to move the southbound passenger train on the Northwestern line, due at Appleton at 7:50, when it was snowed in near Polate point Friday morning. The train was held in the drifts from 8 o'clock until 11 o'clock and in the meantime traffic on the road was held up.

The passenger train stopped at the automatic signal because a freight train was ahead and when it attempted to start the wheels slipped on the rails. In a few minutes the snow had drifted in to such an extent that the train could not be moved. An engine was sent from Appleton Junction to help pull out the stalled passengers but the two engines couldn't move the train and a third locomotive was sent from Kaukauna to push from the rear. The three engines finally pushed the train out.

The northbound mail train was held at Appleton Junction while the southbound train was held in the snow.

Peace Plan Ballot

FOLLOWING is the ballot through which citizens are asked to express their approval or disapproval of the Bok peace plan. Stripped of details, it seems to propose that America enter the world court and cooperate with the League of Nations as a non-member nation, its representatives for that purpose lacking authority to bind the United States without act of congress. The Appleton Post-Crescent invites, in addition to the balloting, the fullest discussion of the plan as a good means of stimulating interest in relation to the world's greatest problem. What do YOU say?

THE PLAN IN BRIEF

1. That the United States shall immediately enter the Permanent Court of International Justice, under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.
2. That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States shall offer to extend its present cooperation with the League and participate in the work of the League as a body of mutual counsel under conditions which:
1. Substitute moral force and public opinion for the military and economic force originally implied in Article X and XVI.
2. Safeguard the Monroe Doctrine.
3. Accept the fact that the United States will assume no obligations under the Treaty of Versailles except by Act of Congress.
4. Propose that membership in the League should be opened to all nations.
5. Provide for the continuing development of international law.

Surprises In Store For Visitors At Auto Show

A big surprise is in store for the visitors who will attend the winter automobile show which will be held in Armory G on Feb. 2, 3, 4 and 5, according to O. C. Hoffman, who is promoting the show for local automobile dealers.

No inkling is given by the automobile dealers as to nature of the surprise, but readers of the Appleton Post-Crescent have been asked to watch the issues next week for the announcement of the surprise.

In addition to this major surprise, the exhibitors have arranged for other surprises for the spectators at each afternoon and evening of the exposition.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

On Thursday, Jan. 31, the Post-Crescent will issue a special Automobile Edition, which will not only carry comprehensive advertising on all automobiles displayed at the show, but which will contain many columns of interesting news articles regarding latest activities in automobile circles.

Latest models of many automobile manufacturers who are represented in Appleton will be displayed. In addition to a complete line of automobile accessories.

There will be no ultra-fashionable types or rare models on display, but every car exhibited will be of a standard and well known make and one that has a good trade or resale value. Each car is handled locally and is in touch with a local service department.

The armory will be prettily decorated for the occasion and for the further diversions of the spectators the local automobile dealers have arranged for daily vaudeville acts besides continuous music to be furnished by C. H. Morse's orchestra. There will be something doing every minute from the time that the show starts. It is announced.

Damage Case Is Called For Trial

The suit instituted by Miss Rose Lyons against Fletcher's Appleton theater for $18,000 damages did not come to trial in municipal court Friday morning as scheduled, although jurors had been summoned. When the case opened, the attorneys announced that a settlement between the two parties had been reached. According to the stipulations, Miss Lyons will receive $2,000 to compensate for her medical bills incurred because of injuries she suffered when she fell in the theatre in August, 1922. She suffered a compound fracture of the hip as she tripped down a step in to an aisle. Attorney J. P. Frank of Appleton and Attorney James H. McGillan of Green Bay represented the plaintiff and Attorneys Keller and Keller represented the defendant.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day. Also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then be free. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weaknesses.

Jad Salts are non-poisonous; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. adv.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre
at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of mess.

While aging, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. adv.

Epworth League Expects Crowd At Indoor Meet

A large group of young people of the Methodist Episcopal church and their friends are expected to attend the "indoor-meet" of the Epworth league is giving Friday night in the church parlors. Groups are to be selected to take part in the events, prizes to be awarded to the winning team. The meet starts promptly at 7:30.

There are any number of events on the program, including a 25-yard dash, standing "broad grin," standing "high reach," auto race, volleyball game with balloons, relay races, endurance drive and shot put. The guests are to be divided into eight groups. Each group is to select the members who are to participate in the various events, the remaining members to be "rooters" for their side. The only events in which everyone will take part are the standing broad grin and the auto race.

A picnic lunch served in paper buckets will follow the games. Robert Locklin is the general chairman of the committee in charge.

18-INCH ICE CUT AT LAKE WINNEBAGO

Plenty Of Ice Of Excellent Quality Available This Year

Lutz Ice company which has been busy for a week filling its icehouse near Lehman's landing expects to complete the work Sunday and will then shift its operations to Lake Winnebago.

Because of the thickness of the ice—18 inches—and its excellent quality the company is able this year to fill the icehouse with the first cutting which saves considerable extra work in the way of transferring equipment.

About two weeks will be required to fill the icehouse at Lake Winnebago. The company will transfer its equipment Monday and will start cutting late Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning. The company has had no trouble in getting all the men it requires and a large force is employed. The weather interfered very little with operations Friday.

The greatest difficulty the company finds at present is in the delivery of ice to patrons. Lawrence Lutz, who is at the head of the company, says removal of the snow from the pavement makes it almost impossible for his horses to get a foothold or even pull a small load on sleighs which is necessary now to use. Last year a coating of snow was seen on the pavements.

FIRST REO SPEEDER RAN EIGHT YEARS

Owner Of Original Model Comes Back To Trade It In
For New One

After more than eight years of continuous service the first Reo Speed Wagon ever produced has been traded in on a new one by the original owner, W. H. Lerner, of Boston. When the exchange was made, the body of the original Speed Wagon was remounted on the new chassis, for there were few signs of wear.

First in the field of commercial vehicles which departed from the class of lumbering trucks, this Speed Wagon has been closely watched ever since it left the plant of the Reo Motor Car Company. No one, however, has watched its performance more closely than the owners, and for this reason the statement of W. H. Lerner, head of the Boston factory, is particularly enlightening.

"So far as we know," said Mr. Lerner, "there was no important reason for trading in the Speed Wagon. It was still working every day and seemed well able to perform faithfully for a long time to come. But we had had it for eight and one-half years and with the possibility of a severe winter ahead of us we felt it would really be wise to invest in a new Speed Wagon. It has a forty-mile-a-day average all but two weeks of every year and has easily paid for itself many times over. The body, too, has stood up remarkably well; not an iron has started anywhere, and we have mounted the same body on our new Speed Wagon chassis."

"It is hard to reconcile people to the idea that a truck as old as this could be so good. Insurance companies had to test it before they would insure it, because they had no data on commercial vehicles as far back as 1915.

"Of course, the driver deserves a great deal of credit for the fact we have made it run so long. We do not hurry him unnecessarily, we do not expect too much from him, preferring rather that he shall give his Speed Wagon a square deal. And in return the Speed Wagon has given a square deal to us."

CHRYSLER HAS BEST IN MOTOR PLANTS

Thoroughly Up-to-date Car
Possible With Walter
Chrysler's Ideas

Walter P. Chrysler's new motor car, the Chrysler Six, is being built and distributed by a new motor car company, the Chrysler Motor Corporation, an associate of the old Maxwell Motor Corporation, and Chalmers Motor Car Company.

Wholly new machinery, tools, dies, jigs, etc., necessary to build a motor car, have been installed in the great plant of the Chalmers Motor Car Company, which has been completely re-equipped. Maxwell-Chalmers dealers throughout the country will handle the car.

The remodeling of the Chalmers plant makes it one of the most efficient, if not actually the most efficient, in the entire industry. Engineers who have seen it marvel at the complete changes made. Mr. Chrysler gave his production and layout men the entire free hand in rebuilding this plant for the efficient manufacture of Chrysler cars as he gave his engineers in designing the Chrysler Six itself.

Details of construction of the Chrysler reveal even more advanced innovations in design than were incorporated in the first statement of the car. They disclose more clearly that scientific applications of numerous fundamental engineering principles were contributed to it in ways not heretofore brought out in any other motor car.

Cylinders of the Chrysler Six are of the L-head type, cast in one block with the crankcase, with casting designed to insure no possibility of obstructed or constricted water passages. Each valve seat is completely surrounded by cooling water. The engine has a 3-inch bore and 4 1/2 inch stroke. Piston displacement is 201 cubic inches.

Yet so well is gasoline distributed to all cylinders, and so completely is power utilized through weight elimination, reduction of friction and perfect balance of all reciprocating parts that this small power plant develops 68 horsepower. Engineers also say that there is absolutely no vibration. The result makes possible the maximum speed of more than 70 miles an hour from the small motor, with more than 20 miles per gallon of gasoline given throughout its tests. Astonishing results have been secured only through the new application of recognized fundamentals in engineering design.

All models are equipped with Chrysler-Lockhead hydraulic four-wheel brakes. The emergency hand-brake acts on the transmission shaft. The front axle is especially noteworthy. It is tubular, specially designed to take the torsion strains of front wheel braking. A rear axle is mounted.

The result of these features is that the touring car, for instance, weighs only 2650 pounds, including full water, oil and gasoline tanks, can be driven at 60 miles an hour or more over rough roads or cobblestone pavements with greater comfort than most automobiles.

ELEVEN MILLION FOR BUICK PLANT

Expansion Necessary To Bring Factory To Capacity Of
1,200 Cars Daily

In order to bring its production capacity to 1200 cars a day, the Buick Motor Company will expend $11,000,000 in new buildings, additions and equipment for its main plant at Detroit.

The above news, the most significant to break in automobile circles in some time, was authorized yesterday by President H. H. Bassett, who is in New York for the Automobile Show. In making public the details of this notable expansion Mr. Bassett said:

"Although we built more than 200,000 automobiles during the calendar year of 1923, we found this record-breaking number insufficient to supply the demand for Buick cars. That demand continues and to meet it, we are considerably extending our facilities."

ALREADY AT WORK
Already nearing completion is a stock storage building 104 x 63 feet, also 4,000 square feet added to the grey iron foundry; 8,000 square feet to the forge shops and increased lumber drying facilities for the body shop.

Additions authorized for completion prior to June 1, 1924 include the following: 2 1/2 x 350 foot addition to motor plant; 55 x 120 foot addition to the heat-treat plant; 50 x 120 foot addition to the motor test building; 125,000 square feet added to sheet metal plant; 140 x 200 foot addition to completed car warehouse; 80 x 240 feet added to tool making shop.

The above additions naturally require increased space for executive functions and for the latter purposes, a number of entirely new buildings will be provided at Flint.

Among these, two are to be devoted respectively to engineering and personal services, while another, a new five-story building, will be devoted to the manufacturing of automatic screw machine parts.

The Engineering building which will house the laboratories as well as all engineering personnel and equipment will embody four stories, 80 x 260 feet. It will be an up-to-date structure of reinforced concrete.

SERVICE BUILDING
The Personal Service building will be three stories in height, occupying a ground space of 50 x 250 feet. This building will bring together all departments relating to personal service, such as medical, legal, savings, employment.

The new building for automatic parts manufacture will occupy 80 x 400 feet of ground, with three stories. This will allow Buick to make still more of the screw machine parts required.

The main office building is to have two additional floors adding 30,000 square feet to the present office floor space.

There will be a material extension of present loading facilities, including special features to meet the rapidly growing export trade.

Of course this extensive building plan calls for a large investment in machinery and equipment. Not only do expenditures for the latter involve the main plant at Flint but the plant at Detroit which will have a production capacity of 450 units a day instead of 200 as at present.

IMPROVE BRANCHES
Not included in the $11,000,000 appropriation is the vast amount of money expended and to still be expended in providing additional facilities for Buick branches in various parts of the country. Notable among these are entirely new service buildings in Greater New York, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh and Jacksonville.

The erection of a commodious building at the latter point probably best illustrates the importance with which service is regarded by Buick. This branch building is designed, primarily, to serve tourists to Florida who drive Buick cars, thus attracting them away from home the same prompt and intimate factory attention as that enjoyed in the large cities.

In giving out the foregoing details, Mr. Bassett added:

"With these new facilities at home and in the field, we believe we will have a manufacturing and service organization second to none in the industry. The new buildings and additions at Flint and the new equipment at both Flint and Detroit plants will easily enable us to promptly deliver our estimated production of 235,000 to 250,000 cars during the present year."

SHIP TRAINLOAD OF CARS AT TIME

Chandler and Cleveland Supply
For Milwaukee Occupies
35 Freight Cars

A solid train of 35 freight cars filled with Chandler and Cleveland automobiles was shipped January 19 from the factories at Cleveland for the distributor at Milwaukee, forming the largest order for automobiles ever placed at any season by the Milwaukee distributor for these two Cleveland plants.

That so large an order should be shipped in January is significant as a forecast of an unusually early turn in the automotive trade in the Midwest. Trained shipments during the height of the season are common, but

Nash Crankshaft Balanced To Accuracy Of Hair Weight Before It Is Put On Car

As most motor car owners and all automobile men know, the crankshaft is the heart of the motor. A well-balanced crankshaft means a smooth-running engine. Nash Motors balances each shaft before it is assembled into the motor on a machine so accurate that it will record almost the weight of a human hair. Three calculations are made by the operator of this machine and these calculations must absolutely check, otherwise the shaft is rejected.

SAME GOOD MOTOR IN NEW STAR CAR

Two Sport Models Are Added To Durant Line—Many Improvements

The new Star is powered with the same splendid motor which was responsible for the remarkable service performances of the previous Star models and has also incorporated in its frame the famous Durant Tubular Backbone, the advantages of which are too well known to recount here. This new series of models includes a five-passenger touring car, two-passenger roadster, five-passenger sedan as well as a two-passenger coupe. There has also been added to the line two sport models, a five-passenger touring and a sedan, the descriptions of which are given further on in this article.

The bodies of the standard touring and roadster include many improvements. A new style of door has been added with flanges overlapping the door openings. This is the same construction used on the highest priced cars. Concealed door hinges are another new feature. The body itself is of much heavier construction with all wood parts made of hardwood. The windshield has been changed slightly to improve the appearance and a better type of fall light added with the license plate holder attached. There are sockets on all the doors and curtain rods are provided which make it easy to open the doors with the curtains up.

The sedan and coupe have their full share of betterments which will be equally appreciated. Aside from the chassis improvements which have been mentioned, the doors are equipped with nickel plated door handles with an inserted lock. There is a curtain on the rear back window of each closed model and the rear side windows of the sedan. A crank type window regulator is part of the equipment. There is a dome light on both cars with a switch, kick back on doors and each side of roof and the floor is strongly carpeted in back and is covered with a rubber mat in front. Both models are well upholstered with Turkish cushions having narrow pleats fully padded.

The new Star sport touring is one and attracts no attention, but it is unusual in many respects. The close representation by the Chandler and Cleveland, to make such shipments in the dead of winter. Early resumption of peak production is clearly indicated.

Nothing could more forcefully demonstrate the trend in motor car buying than that a distributor in a northern city should order more cars in the middle of the winter than ever before, even in the spring "busy season." That the use of the motor has ceased entirely to be seasonal is the natural conclusion. Buyers no longer wait for fine weather, but take their new cars for the comfort that they will obtain from them during the coldest period of the year.

This conclusion is supported by the fact that of the train load shipment, 55 per cent of the automobiles were of the closed types. More than half of the automobiles now manufactured by the Chandler and Cleveland companies are closed cars, and their large production permits them to turn them out at such a price so low that the gap between open and closed models has been nearly wiped out.

TRIP TO WEST WILL DELIGHT AUTOIST

Take Journeys Off Beaten Path
For Pleasure, Says Chevrolet Owner

Tourists traveling east or west over the Yellowstone Trail will be amply repaid for the time spent in visiting the Finger Lakes Region Central New York; a region which has more fine lakes and gorges than any section east of the Rockies.

The Finger Lakes are laid out so that the tourist may take the entire circuit of 410 miles and leave the region where he entered, or cover one or two trails during a week-end trip. Each of the trails bears the name of an Iroquois clan or tribe, for this section of New York State was once held by the Iroquois, who developed the highest type of Indian civilization in America.

The Finger Lakes region may be entered by automobile at Canandaigua, Skaneateles and Auburn on the Albany-Buffalo section of the Yellowstone Trail, and at Ithaca, Montour Falls and Hammondsport on branch roads from the Albany Highway.

Dr. J. M. Smith, of Chicago, an enthusiastic Chevrolet owner, visited the lakes last summer with Mrs. Smith—who can judge for yourself whether or not they enjoyed themselves, for he was kind enough to send us a copy of a letter which he wrote to a friend telling about the trip.

"Dear Jack:
"Here's the long-delayed account of our last summer's vacation trip. Thanks to the Good Ship Chev Coupe, we made our long-looked-for trip to the Finger Lakes Region of Central New York. I've promised friend Ed ever since we've been married that we'd make it. Remember what you said about my never making another tour in a Chev after last year's jaunt through Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas? Contrary to your pessimistic forecast, we enjoyed this trip thoroughly.

"You didn't get a chance to throw your hammer at my plans for this past summer, so I submitted your cars while I gave you a summary of the trip. Roads for the most part were excellent, and to prove to you that the automobile route is the only vacation, I'll quote from the log of the trip which friend wife kept right on the ground.

"First off, Jack, here's the gross figures as they chalk off the log. June 3 to 16, 1923; total mileage 1687 on 65 gallons of gas and 15 quarts of oil; an average of 25.9 miles per gallon and 112.7 on oil—not so bad, eh?

"Second, Jack, here's the gross figures as they chalk off the log. June 3 to 16, 1923; total mileage 1687 on 65 gallons of gas and 15 quarts of oil; an average of 25.9 miles per gallon and 112.7 on oil—not so bad, eh?

CADILLAC ADOPTS NEW BODY STYLES

Seven Passenger Sedan And
Victoria Are Announced
At New York Show

There were announced during the New York Show week two new Cadillac body styles, supplementing the present V-63 line a seven-passenger sedan and a Victoria—Fisher-built of steel construction instead of aluminum.

Mounted on the standard V-63 chassis, identical in every respect with the chassis used for all V-63 body styles, the Seven-passenger Sedan combines all the improved features of V-63 chassis and motor design with the comforts of a beautiful and serviceable closed body at a considerably lower price than our Standard De Luxe Suburban, the reduction being made possible by the substitution of steel instead of aluminum in body construction, the use of fine grade cloth material for trimming in lieu of more expensive mohair plush, and the adoption of a different interior treatment of the body as regards upholstery materials and wall panels.

This body is equal and even superior to the standard closed jobs on any competing makes and is surpassed only by the De Luxe Cadillac jobs of aluminum.

As the price of $3585.00 list, f. o. b. Detroit, has been figured on a quantity production basis, it is necessary that the specifications of these Seven-passenger Sedans be identical and without options.

BALLOON TIRES STIR UP QUESTIONS

General Tire Shops Are Instructed
To Give Information
To Autoists

Specialization is still a large in the land, dividing and then dividing again. Now balloon tires have caused it to perform another division in the already specialized business of question answering.

"A dozen or more men find steady employment in one railroad station giving all their time to one thing—answering questions. Not so long ago the station agent answered all questions just as a side line while he checked baggage, sold tickets, handled mail and telegrams and kept the village urghins from annoying the live geese in the crate on the hand truck.

Now comes this latest prunk of specialization in question answering. And it rolls quietly into our lives, accompanied by every little "dick" on the wheels of automobiles. Information bureaus are springing up all over the land to answer the many questions which balloon tires have conjured up in the minds of automobile owners. Can I put on balloons? Do I have to change my wheels? Will they wear out faster? And so on—the number of questions being limited only by the limits of drive imagination.

One of the big Akron tire makers, The General Tire and Rubber Company, has gone so far as to designate every one of its distributor bureaus as a free information bureau for motorists who are interested in any way in the balloon tire idea. Placards and advertisements set forth that the General distributors' places are balloons.

This company is particularly well fitted to furnish its distributors with authentic data because it has been developing the balloon tire idea for the past ten years. The balloon tire of today is the magnification and refinement of the Jumbo which the General company built in 1916.

SATIN FINISH ON NEW OAKLAND CARS

Fewer Washings Necessary. On Finish Which Is Preferable
To Varnish Job

The Oakland Motor Car company is now in full swing on the new special permanent satin finish, perfected at the Oakland factories. Greater durability, fewer washings and low cost service on refinishing are some of the advantages claimed over the regulation varnish job.

Fewer washings of the car are necessary due to the fact that the ordinary dirt, mud, gumbo or alkali dust can be wiped off with a dry cloth. If the car is dented or marred by accident, the damaged spot can be quickly "bumped out" and polished with a spray gun at the Oakland service stations, thereby eliminating the necessity of doing a whole section over—something that is required on the varnish job. It is also claimed that the older the car becomes, the glossier the finish, which is brought out by rubbing with a cloth or other soft material.

This special finish on the Oakland cars has been subjected to the terrific heat of the southern states, the dank sea air in our coast towns and even to the chemical action of a powerful fire extinguisher without harming the finish in the least.

Details of the application of the special satin permanent finish and its features were explained by Russell Rogers, manager of the paint department of the Oakland factory, at a recent meeting of the Detroit chapter, Society of Automotive Engineers. "The new finish," he said, "is a substitute for color, around color, color varnish and finishing varnish."

"Bodies are first given the usual priming coat, baked for 30 minutes and the spot glazed to remove minor marks on the metal. After the bodies are sanded, the first coat of the satin finish is applied. Only a half hour is required for drying, after which the second coat is applied and again subjected to heat.

"Any unevenness in the metal bodies is clearly brought out by the paint. These minor imperfections are easily bumped out after the first coat is applied without the slightest injurious effect on the finish. This same feature applies when bumping out used car and is one of the durability features of the new method.

"Due to the hardness of the new finish there are only two per cent rejections of finished cars as compared to 10 per cent of varnished jobs. This same hardness has proved itself in actual experience by passing unscratched through bumps and jams that would badly mar a car finished with varnish."

AUTO MADE GREAT VENTURE POSSIBLE

Three Dodge Cars Make Great Record On Trip For Asiatic Exploration

The startling discoveries of the Third Asiatic Expedition, with their priceless contributions to science and commerce, would have been impossible without motor cars.

That is the blunt, unequivocal statement of Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the expedition which returned recently from a two-year search of Innermost Mongolia, with the largest and most valuable collection of fossils ever brought into the United States.

When the party started from China, Mr. Andrews was told that camels and horses were the only means of transportation known in the interior of the country he was about to penetrate. To cross the Gobi desert alone was a feat to test the endurance of the most rugged car, and had been accomplished but seldom. To ford the streams and cross the hilly, roadless wastes of the unknown land beyond the desert, however, was considered an utter impossibility.

Nevertheless, Mr. Andrews had made up his mind. Dodge Brothers rules prevented them from contributing their cars to the expedition, he said. "But I felt that I had to have them, anyhow. Even though numerous other manufacturers had offered to supply me I had penetrated Mongolia before and I knew just about what would be required of a car."

"So I bought three Dodge Brothers cars at full list price in Peking—one touring car and two 3-4 ton commercials. I tried every insurance company in China. I believe, in an effort to insure the cars before starting the trip. They only laughed at me, even when I explained that I cared for nothing except insurance against total destruction. We had our mechanics and service parts and knew that we could survive any accident except annihilation. But the insurance companies said no car could get in, much less get out—and so we traveled at our own risk."

"What those cars did was a revelation to the whole eastern world. We crossed rivers, plunged in and out of deep ruts and thumped over boulders until we thought everything must shake to pieces. But those cars kept going. Terribly overworked, they kept the impossible day after day. Sometimes we chased wild animals across the roadless plains at high speed. I remember once the speedometer was registering 40 miles an hour when we were in hot pursuit of a drove of wild asses. One would think no car could survive such abuse as the plains were naturally full of ruts and mounds. But we drove them back to China, after 10,000 miles of this sort of usage, and sold them without difficulty for more than the price of three new Dodge Brothers cars in the United States."

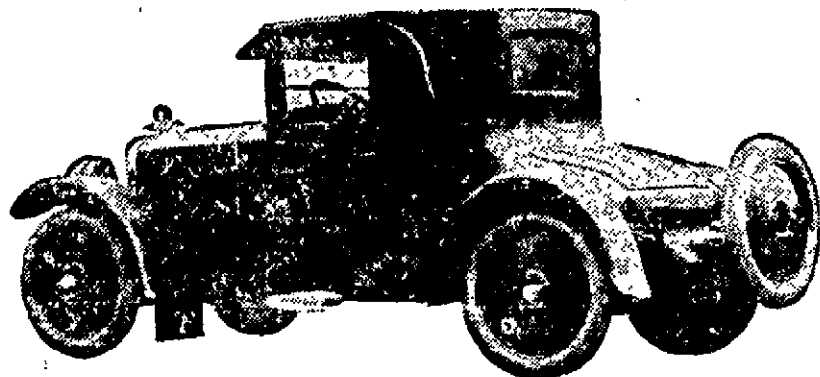

"The Chinese were eager to get these cars. They had done something that no other car had ever done. The company that bought ours now has 25 in operation, carrying from seven to fifteen passengers 800 miles across the desert from Kalgan to Urumchi. This trip formerly required 50 tedious days. With these Dodge Brothers cars they do it in 48 hours—and there are no roads."

Mr. Andrews added, as a matter of course, that he would again take Dodge Brothers cars on his next expedition, which he plans to start in June, 1924.

The expedition which he led into Mongolia occupied two years. Without motor cars, it would have taken 20 or 30 years, it is estimated. Among the discoveries which science holds as one of the most important in centuries were several nests of dinosaurs—the first ever found. In all, 256 crates of fossils were brought back, including skeletons or reptiles fully ten million years old. Some of these reptiles, according to Andrews, five obvious traces of having been ancestors of a strange species being uncovered from time to time in North and South America showing that the two hemispheres were at one time connected.

Important mineral deposits were also discovered, and this information was turned over to the Mongolian government.

One Of Cleveland's Ten

CLEVELAND'S NEW SPECIAL COUPE
"With the addition of a new special Coupe model, the Cleveland line for 1924 now comprises ten models." states James Pleshek, of the G. R. & S. local Cleveland Six distributor. "This newest model gives motor car buyers an unusual opportunity to exercise their individual tastes as to colors. The model features eight optional color choices: Cleveland coach blue, blue devil blue, Bavarian blue, dark blue, Cleveland carmine, Cleveland maroon, beige brown and sunburst gray. For this reason it is destined to become exceedingly popular with women drivers and those who like distinction in appearance."

"The model is further enhanced by a nickel radiator, winged cap and motorometer, aluminum steps. A distinctive feature is the aluminum top braces and head of aluminum between the hood and cowl. From every angle there is a sportive touch. "Three passengers can be accommodated in this new special coupe. The upholstery is genuine leather throughout. Exceptional storage space is provided back of the driver's seat and in the rear deck for large and small articles. Both compartments are guarded by a lock. "Disc wheels instead of wood are featured."

BUILD CARS LIKE 'ONE HOSS SHAY'

Ambition Of Olds Factory Is To Produce Car That Will Last Many Years

Built before "horseless carriages" were even dreamed of, the Deacon's "One Hoss Shay," famed in rhyme by Oliver Wendell Holmes, today is the ideal to which the automobile industry is striving. Automobile manufacturers hope sometime to build cars as well balanced, and the wear on each individual part so carefully calculated, that the cars will run for many years without the replacement of even the smallest part, according to R. K. Jack, chief engineer of the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Michigan.

"Of course, the perfection of the 'One Hoss Shay,' which ran for more than a generation without repairs, is mostly the license of literature and will never be fully realized," said Mr. Jack. "But each year the automotive industry is coming nearer to it through intensive scientific study. In fact this approach to perfection in the interrelation of automotive parts is one of the answers of how it is possible to build a six cylinder car like the new Oldsmobile at the unusually low price it is sold for."

"In designing the new six, the engineering department of the Olds Motor Works spent months in calculating the strains and stresses on each individual part. Then, through past experience and the assistance of the research, metallurgical, and chemical departments of General Motors, each part was designed fully capable to do its allotted task and selected."

"In this way unnecessary weight has been eliminated from parts that were heavier than need be; metals better suited to designated tasks have been substituted, and additional strength given where needed. Not only does this better relation of all parts improve the balance and performance of an automobile, but it also reduces wear and waste."

"The research work on the Oldsmobile Six would have been a prohibitive cost had it been borne directly by one factory. But a large portion of it was the result of the work of the great research and experimental departments of the General Motors Corporation. Added to this is the tremendous purchasing power of General Motors. These two factors were great aids to the Olds Motor Works in designing and producing a car, which if not the equivalent of the 'One Hoss Shay,' will operate for many years with a minimum of repairs."

ON THE SCREEN

ROMANCE LIVES AGAIN IN NEW PHOTOPLAY

Romance and vivid imagination have been brought to life on the screen in the latest tale of Gouverneur Morris "Yellow Men and Gold," a Goldwyn picture, which will be presented at the New Bijou Theatre to day and Saturday. It is a tale of action in which the incidents carry the players half way across the ocean to a lost island. A hunt for treasure that sends Robert Louis Stevenson would have delighted in, develops so many twists and turns that every moment is crowded with excitement.

All the elements of romance enter into "Yellow Men and Gold." A beautiful love story, a treasure quest, a terrific struggle between two groups of treasure seekers, the final noble deed of the adventure that softens the memory of a life given to conscientious scheming, are all welded together in a tale that, once under way, never lags in interest until the last scene flashes past on the screen.

"SPEED"

One of the most spectacular scenes in the new Patheserial, "Speed," will be seen at the New Bijou Theatre Saturday matinee when the events that send "The Crusher," is presented. Charles Hutchinson, the famous stunt star, is seen performing thrills amid the seethings of an iron mine. The big scene of the chapter takes place when Lucy Fox is carried upward about 150 feet in a bucket from the mines. At

MAXWELL ALONE IN PRICE, BEAUTY

Latest Model Greeted By Greatest Demand Ever Known To This Company

"The most notable achievement in body design in the history of closed cars."

This statement came from a Maxwell dealer just after his first inspection of the good Maxwell Club sedan. And his opinion seems to have been well verified by every dealer in the organization as well as by thousands of motor car buyers who have already placed orders for their Club Sedan and are eagerly waiting deliveries. The Maxwell organization is frank to admit that no body model of the number which they have originated has been met with the same instantaneous and widespread acclaim. The demand from every part of the country has been far above the capacities of the Maxwell factories to produce. We firmly believe the Club Sedan is not only destined to be the most popular car ever produced by this company, but one of the most popular enclosed cars ever offered by any manufacturer in any price class.

The reason for such a spontaneous exhibition of enthusiastic praise on the part of dealer and public makes itself obvious when the car and its low price are fully considered. Never before has an enclosed car of such size been offered at this price. Never before has a full five passenger car of the sedan type, carrying the well known mechanical excellence of the good Maxwell, been offered at $1045. Maxwell has sacrificed neither size, nor comfort, nor appearance in producing the Club Sedan. Only the most efficient manufacturing, larger production, design that lends itself to simple practical practice in body construction, and the elimination of any features that could be considered unnecessary extravagance, have made possible this car at its unbelievably low price.

Consider every feature of it. Its tonneau is a wide and deep and roomy as in the standard sedan. The forward seats are strongly built and comfortable. Front compartment passengers are also provided with ample room. Upholstery of granite weave cloth in leather shades is used in cars that sell hundreds of dollars above the Club Sedan. Its beauty together with its long wearing qualities combine to make it an ideal covering for Club Sedan cushions. The door on either side is so wide that it becomes itself a distinct feature worthy of comment. Further to facilitate entrance and exit the chairs tilt forward, and thus, with the broad doors, provides an absolutely clear threshold.

In outward appearance the Club Sedan lives up to its traditions as a good Maxwell. It is easily the most beautiful car of the so-called utility type. In line it is graceful and impressive. It is also attractive in finish, with its body, hood and disc wheels deep black, and a rich stripe across the door panel. Broad doors and side windows are easily raised and lowered and given unobstructed view in all directions. The cowl ventilator and a windshield which make for the absolute control of ventilation, and the elimination of "blat spots," add to the pleasure and convenience of driving.

The Club Sedan is well equipped, including a number of necessary accessories without extra charge. In every way the car gives complete answer to the popular demand for a full enclosed car. The Club Sedan gives you the most unusual opportunity for sales that you have ever had. It gives you not only a number of new prospects and buyers but it brings to your show room a large number of people who will become interested in other models of the line. In other words the Club Sedan is not only a good sales proposition, in itself, but is good advertising. Keep a car constantly before the public.

JOINT-EASE For Stiff, Swollen Joints

Rheumatic or Otherwise

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets In—Join Agony Gets Out."

It was a high class pharmacist who saw prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twinging, inflamed, stiff, painful joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in, through skin and flesh and gets right to work and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at Volz's Drug Co. and druggists everywhere for 50 cents a tube.

NEW MACHINE SEPARATES OIL FROM BILGE WATER

By Associated Press
Birkenhead, England -- A new marine oil separator, which promises to save much money, was recently demonstrated here.

Oil and water pumped from a ship's bilge pass through the machine, and by a certain process the oil is returned to the vessel's tanks and the water to the sea. Besides saving fuel, the process will reduce the danger of oil fires on the water of harbors and rivers.

GERMANS EAGER TO BUY FRENCH GOODS

By Associated Press.

Berlin—French wines, French perfumes and French food supplies of various sorts came back into the German market with a rush immediately after the announcement of Chancellor Stresemann that the passive resistance in the Ruhr was at an end. Bills of fare in prominent cafes and restaurants again are being written in French, and all the signs declaring French and Belgians would not be served have been removed.

Most of the larger German hotels and cafes had extensive cellars filled with French wines. Much of this has been sold as Italian or Spanish wine during the passive resistance period, but the Spanish and Italian labels have now been replaced by French labels, and customers who have been clamoring for French wine are happier.

Horicon and Mayville to Theresa, relocated to pass through Minnesota Junction, Burnett and Waupun.

The communication stated that the residents of Horicon were under the impression that at the time they voted for the bond issue, highway 26 would be a permanent highway through their city.

Highway 26 connects Janesville with highway 15 at Theresa, leading to the northern part of the state.

The board referred the matter to the county road and bridge committee, who will in turn refer the matter to the state road and bridge committee for definite action.

"HOME."

This bureau has for distribution a free booklet that will aid you in selecting suitable plans for a home of your own. It contains exterior views and floor plans of 50 frame houses which are architecturally correct. Almost every type of home is shown—the dairy cottage—the bungalow—the comfortable two-story house.

No prospective builder can afford to be without this booklet. You can get your copy from our Washington Information Bureau if you send in your name and address with two cents in stamps for return postage. In filling out the coupon be sure to write clearly.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggists a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach. Inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

Such a wonderful, wonderful thing has happened, dear little Marquise! Such a curious thing something that I can not in any way explain.

My pearls are real!

Yesterday, because I was worried about Ruth and more worried about Jack from whom I had only received the laconic telegram "Am going out of town on business. Have no time to come home. Give man my overnight bag. Don't know when I'll be back. Don't worry." I decided I would take my pearl beads down and have them restrung. It would give me something to do.

I went to the best jewelry store in town, all the while feeling ashamed to ask anyone in such a smart shop to string my beads, but this time I intended to have them knotted and I did not know just how to do it myself.

The clerk was very courteous and said that he thought they would be glad to have them strung for me, although they never did anything of the kind at the shop. I took them out and he held a few of them in his hand. I thought the man looked very strangely first at the beads and then at me. At last he called one of the proprietors of the store.

"Mrs Prescott wishes her pearls restrung. Have we anyone whom we can trust to do this?" The speech seemed almost ironical.

The man he had called looked at me rather strangely as he picked up one or two of the pearls. "I think we can bring someone into the shop," he said, "and I myself will stay in the room while they are being strung."

"Oh, I'm sure you need not go to all that trouble," I expostulated.

For answer the man brought a magnifying glass and looked at them very closely.

"My dear young lady, you are extremely unusual when speaking of pearls that are worth probably two hundred thousand dollars, if not more."

I felt my knees wobble under me. Everything turned black. I managed to say, "I had no idea they were so valuable. My sister gave them to me as a wedding present."

"It is very probable that your sister investigated your father into buying them for you and letting her have the honor of giving them to you. Only a man of great wealth could make a gift so magnificent. They are the most beautiful and the best matched pearls I have ever seen in my life. Are you sure you know just exactly how many there are?"

"There are 79," I said in a trembling voice. "I had 80, but when the string broke the other night in a restaurant, only 79 could be found."

"And you didn't make a fuss about it? Didn't you understand that someone had put one in his pocket?"

"No, I didn't want to make a scene."

The jeweler looked positively disgusted with me as he gathered up the pearls and said they would be ready for me in the morning.

I got out as soon as possible for I had to be alone to realize the fact. My pearls are real!

Adventures Of The Twins

Mister Nut-Fudge Alligator

The next place the Twins came to in Dixie Land was a muddy river.

And there on the bank lay a queer-looking object, pointed at both ends. It was as flat as a mattress, as long as a log, and as brown and lumpy as a pan of nut-fudge. Besides, it was all marked off in little squares, just like nut-fudge.

Nick was just going to say, "Hello, Mister Nut-Fudge, who are you?" when suddenly one of Mister Fudge's pointed ends opened, showing two rows of white teeth like icicles—only some of them were upside down.

At that minute the Twins spied a little brown furry creature not ten feet away from Mister Alligator's nose. The little creature was shivering and shaking like a bowl of lemon jelly and his name was Roly Poly. Mister Alligator laughed when he saw him pop out of a hole in the bank right in front of him.

"Hello," he called as pleasant as could be. "How are you, Roly Poly?"

"I—I'm w—well," stammered Roly.

"That's fine," laughed Mister Alligator. "How much do you weigh now?"

"A—about three p—pounds," answered Roly.

"Tut, tut, tut!" exclaimed Mister Alligator. "That's not enough. You ought to weigh six pounds. I'll bet you do and you don't know it. Come here and let me lift you."

"Oh, no! I—I couldn't," stammered Roly. "M—mamma wouldn't let me."

"She wouldn't hev?" snapped Mister Alligator, and he stopped laughing long to slash his tail around like a carpet beater.

Roly Poly began to run and this was exactly what Mister Alligator did not want. He was so big and

Fish Diet
Will Keep Ills Away

Rickets, Gout and Other Ailments Are Lessened By Fish As Food

New York—The poor fish has been maligned and slighted too long. He'd cut down our cost of living, prevent many malignant diseases and give employment to our unemployed if we would give him the place he merits on our menus.

So says Mrs. Evelyn Spencer, who gained the name of "fish evangelist" during the war, and is today an expert in the United States bureau of fisheries.

Now she is concerned not so much with the economy of fish as with the medicinal and curative properties found in no other food.

FREQUENT RICKETS
"Take rickets," she begins, "that affliction of infancy which 90 per cent of the children of New York have in some form or other. It might be avoided, doctors say, if prospective mothers include plenty of fish in their diet so as to supply the elements needed for bone growth and calcification of the teeth.

HOW TO BAKE FISH
Skin and bone the fish and cut into pieces, making about three to the pound. Dip them in salted milk and place in a baking dish. Then blanket them around with finely salted bread crumbs and pour a little oil over the top. Bake for 10 minutes in a hot oven (500 degrees). The crumbs will keep the juices in the fish and you get the full benefit of the minerals.

"In the New Hebrides islands where sanitation conditions are the worst known, but where fish is the daily diet, rickets is unknown."

GOUT CURE
Gout is another disease which indicates lack of an essential element, usually iodine, which Mrs. Spencer says is supplied by fish. Fishermen are never troubled with gout.

"For all of what doctors call the 'deficiency diseases,' she goes on, 'such as anemia, tuberculosis and others, cod liver oil is one of the first things they prescribe. But one can get valuable fish oil in any fish.'

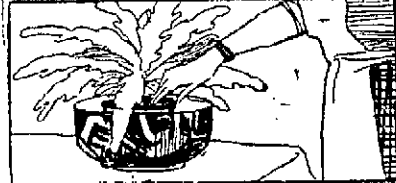

If properly cooked, fish is one of the most delicious meats, Mrs. Spencer maintains. But here's the rub. The American housewife can't cook fish, as a rule.

"When I have good fish in hotels and restaurants," she says, "I am in the east, I find on inspection that the cooks are European; and if I am in the west, he is an oriental."

Household
Suggestions

SEEDING RAISINS
Cover raisins with boiling water and let stand a few moments before seeding them.

HOUSE FERN
To make house ferns grow rapidly put three or four pieces of charcoal on top of the soil and keep the flower pot in a jardiniere filled with water.

SALAD DRESSING
A little salt will smooth the salad dressing or sauce that has a tendency to curdle.

NEUTRALIZES ODOR
Culinary fat has been used for centuries

ing berries or any strong-smelling fish will lose all disagreeable odor if allowed to stand for a while in a bowl containing tea leaves.

INK SPOTS
When you spill ink on a white silk shirt, keep the spot saturated with turpentine, and after a few hours you can remove it by rubbing the material between the fingers.

Good Manners

You will, at the dinner table, place the napkin half-unfolded across the lap. Rising from the table, you will not refold the napkin, but place it as it is upon the table. You will be careful not to drop it into the finger bowl or over the coffee cup. Under no circumstances will you tuck the napkin into the front of your dress.

Sister Mary's
Kitchen

(Unless otherwise specified, these recipes are planned for four persons.)

BEANS
Dried beans mean much to the woman who would serve nourishing, muscle-building foods to her family.

All legumes contain protein, making them valuable meat stretchers. But they are also rich in starch, taking the place of a starchy vegetable.

So a dish of beans combined with meat is a full meal in itself except for the mineral salts so necessary in the winter diet.

Beans are lacking in fat which can be provided in the meat or the salad. There are many varieties of dried beans. Their chief difference is in richness of flavor rather than nourishment.

Bean combinations are not quickly digested but persons who are healthy and vigorous may enjoy them to their hearts' content during the cold weather.

Chili con carne can be made with the red kidney or dried lima beans if Mexican beans are not procurable. The chili used in the dish can be prepared from dried chili peppers or chili powder can be used.

A green salad, made of cabbage or lettuce, and a fruit dessert served with cream could be served with chili con carne to round out the meal.

CHILI CON CARNE
One pound round steak, 1 pod red chili pepper, 6 onions, 3 cups tomatoes (canned), 1 cup dried beans, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt.

Remove and discard seeds from chili pepper, soak in warm water to cover until soft. Scrape pulp from skins into the water and discard skins. Use pulp and water. There should be about one cup.

Cut steak into small pieces or put through the coarse knife of food chopper. Melt one or two tablespoons bacon fat in frying pan, add onions cut in thin slices and fry a pale straw color. Add meat and brown quickly. Stir over flour and stir until well blended and brown. Add chili water and pulp, tomatoes and beans which have been soaked overnight and parboiled in soda water. Simmer about two hours and add salt. Serve very hot. The mixture should be fairly thick when done. The beans are sometimes cooked separately and after draining cooked in two tablespoons bacon fat, until fat is absorbed. They are then used to form a border for the meat mixture.

New York—Opera stars are the best clowns in the business. Give them a chance to poke fun—particularly at each other—and they take full advantage of their opportunities.

At the performance of "The Barber of Seville," which marked the return of Amelia Galli-Curci to the Metropolitan Opera Company, almost everyone in the cast took a thrust—or should it be bugle?—at the Mme.'s bravura, cantilena, and other frills of her coloratura.

"Malatesta, who crowned the part of Dr. Bartolo, the villain of the opera, sounded like a ventriloquist as he falsettoed his voice in imitating Galli-Curci's trills. And all the others of the cast, members of the company who have long respected her as a leading prima donna, couldn't resist the temptation to 'Gurgie-gurgie' a little in the light moments of the opera.

Galli-Curci seemed to enjoy it, as well as the audience. Which proves that perhaps opera stars are not only good clowns and singers, but good sports, too.

The mark at which all American novelists aim is the Pulitzer prize. At least three novels for which their respective publishers claim this honor for 1924 have come to hand in the past several days. The most promising of these is Booth Tarkington's "The Midlander."

"Since this reviewer has not read the book entirely through, no extended account of the book is attempted now. Three-fourths of the way through the story appears to be just about the best that Booth Tarkington has ever written. A complete report will be published here soon.

Other recent books which this writer likes are "The Snob," "The Owl's House," "The Rover" and "The Story of the Bible." And of course, "A Lost Lady" will seem like a recent book for months to come.

IMPERIAL CONCLAVES MAY BE HELD BY RADIO

London—The latest of the many forecasts as to what radio may accomplish in the near future comes from Lord Burmah, who recently has been considering the question of broadcasting at the direction of the postmaster-general.

Imperial conferences, at which the empire's members gather in London to discuss weighty matters, may be held some day through the air, Lord Burmah prophesies; the members of faraway parliaments could listen in when the prime minister of England wanted to deliver an important speech.

"Using radio," asks Lord Burmah, "when radio has no apparent limitations and frozen-in Arctic explorers hear wireless concerts at a distance which a few years ago seemed unbelievable."

BRIDEGROOM OF 55 WINS
GIRL OF 18 AS BRIDE

MRS. VIVIAN FISKE FLEMING

Manistee, Mich.—Charles Fleming, 55, veteran sailor of many a Great Lakes storm and toss, has put to sea once more in matrimonial bark with a blushing bride of 18 in tow.

Rolling a saline chanter from his lips the December bridegroom, and his May spouse have electrified local ports with such late romance.

Nor does Fleming know exactly just how he conquered the heart and hand of Vivian Fiske, whose charm and wealth have long been the toast from many a hurricane deck and maritime levee.

The wedding came about one night not so long ago when the bride's parents objected to her attendance at the party with a high school boy, proposing an automobile ride with Fleming instead.

When the couple returned, daughter said: "Meet my husband."

"I loved him. And that's why I married him," she explained.

"And as for me, I loved her too," responded Fleming, when asked.

Now all's well reports a lookout aboard the nuptial craft, with everything headed out into steady seas, lights bright, and no fog ahead still.

Forsakes Her Teaching When Fascination For Sleuthing Seizes Her

San Francisco—Pink teas may be sufficiently bracing for those who care for them.

But winsome, Delphie Halverson here pretends to be a detective, straight in the form of a bit of gun play coupled with pursuit of murderous gangsters into cloistered retreat of their underworld lairs.

In little more than three years this 22-year-old girl, who left drab monotony of the classroom behind to engage in spectacular career as a lady detective, has added untold laurels to her fame.

From teacher to sleuth affords a bit of contrast. This Miss Halverson reflectively appraises with satisfaction.

Likewise the transition has been productive of a kaleidoscopic series of thrills which continues to unfold as she put fear of law into criminal hearts.

BAGS 100 BOOTLEGGERS
The latest and most spectacular coup of this petticoated Sherlock Holmes was the roundup and conviction of some 100 bootleggers, whom she arrested after much strategy in the town of Richmond, Calif.

Since changing from teaching to trading, Miss Halverson has participated in all kinds of detective work, ranging from sniffling cases to raids on opium joints.

Yet, despite her frequent contacts with the seamy side of life she retains a soft-spoken and truly feminine manner.

Not has she the common faults of the traditional lady detective, her employer, V. D. Carl, chief of a prominent local agency, says.

Sex counts nothing with her. She is neither unnecessarily lenient with men nor unjustly severe with women malefactors.

Cultured and quiet, nevertheless, she can handle a gun with bullseye precision.

"I haven't yet been compelled to shoot anyone," she says.

"However, I would, if the occasion demanded."

Once she broke up an opium ring by simulating the nerve-racked guise of a drug addict.

ACTING COUNTS TOO
The Chinaman who conducted the place wanted to buy her for a slave girl and it was only by pretending willingness to the transaction that she gained entrance to the dive and secured evidence for the raiding party which followed.

"The game is thrilling and I like it," Miss Halverson says.

"There's only one drawback. I get too many proposals of marriage from the men I bring to jail."

"On my bootlegging raid recently, five of the gang wanted me as their wife."

"I had to do some effective acting to evade their approaches."

"But all of that adds to the zest of things."

"Ever afraid? My, No!"

HOME HAZARDS
TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES
BY WINIFRED HATHAWAY
Secretary, National Committee for Prevention of Blindness
Beware the common towel in your home!
If Pa and Ma and Big Brother from the shop and Sister home from school and Little Johnny all use the same towel, look out!
School children, factory workers and people using household things in common often catch diseases from each other. Many people have an eye disease and do not know it, as some diseases are not easily recognized in the early stages.
The best way to keep from catching an eye disease is to keep from touching the eyes with soiled hands, towels and face cloths. Roller towels, especially, are dangerous.
Give each member of the family individual towels. Let Jack's towel have a blue border and Jane's a pink, or put their initials in the corner. But whatever you do, don't let them all use the same towel.
Trachoma, a communicable and destructive eye disease, often is passed to every member of a family through use of the common towel. At first there may be but little pain with trachoma, only a feeling as though something were under the lid scratching the eye. The eye waters and gets a little red.
If promptly and properly treated at this stage the disease may be cured. But if neglected, ulceration follows and may cause total blindness.
REMEMBER: Accidents to the eyes constitute the greatest single cause of blindness in the United States. Take care of your eyes.

Bundles Are Not Shunned
By M'Lady

There was a time when there was a strong prejudice on the part of almost every one who could afford to indulge in such prejudices against carrying bundles, especially newspaper bundles. Little girls used to be told by very proper ladies who set themselves up as models of decorum that there were three things no "perfect lady" ever did—to look in a barber shop window, to walk in a city street without gloves, or to carry a newspaper bundle. Sometimes the list varied, but almost always there was that little warning about the bundle.

How times change our ideas of "perfect ladies," or rather how few of us nowadays really want to be that creature that used to be called a perfect lady. And since the war we all carry bundles now and then.

CARRY NO MORE LOADS
If there is any new code or manners concerning this new fad for carrying bundles it is this: Carry things in as compact a form as possible. Get a substantial basket or bag and be business-like in your toting. There is still something rather unbecoming in one about the woman with a lot of little bundles. If she meets a man of her acquaintance he naturally asks to help her with her load and the task of transferring some 10 or a dozen little packages is extremely awkward, whereas there is no embarrassment in handling over a neatly packed though heavy basket or bag. But as much as possible the woman who shops or markets does so at a time when she will not meet the men she knows. She avoids crowding the street cars at a time when workers are coming home, and she feels a certain pride in having depended on the assistance of no one to fetch her bundles home.

WHY MEN REBEL
There are a lot of men who are really very much embarrassed at the prospect of having to carry an awkward bundle. They feel their mothers or wives suggest that they do it they have a peculiar feeling of rebellion about it, though of course they always do it. One reason, surely, why a good many young men object to carrying bundles—they wouldn't hesitate in the least at carrying a golf bag weighing 15 or 20 pounds, or a heavy ulster heavy because they knew when they began their career carrying bundles was associated with the errand boy's job. Maybe they were errand boys themselves and going bundleless to them was a sign of a step upward in their career. Perhaps that is the reason why young men as a rule rebel more at the no-delivery system than is so generally established now than do their wives and sisters.

FUR AND CHIFFON
A shawl of chiffon, edged with fur, is a charming accessory for the chiffon frock.

SEMI-GIRDLES
Girdles these days rarely entirely encircle the waistline. They do duty either in the back or the front but not both places.

LETTER OF FLOWERS
Instead of a monogram, a conventional motif of colorful flowers or fruits may appear on the left front of the fashionable sport frock.

BOTH SIDES USEFUL
One of the most popular dress materials of the moment is the crepe satin with its shiny and dull side alternated to form trimming.

PLEATS MONOPOLIZE
Pleats are the only allowable trimming, except a bit of drawwork, allowed on the smartest crepe dresses for morning wear.

CAPED DRESSES
One-piece dresses with large checks or plaids, frequently have short capes lined with bright colors.

OLD-STYLE HATS
The black satin hat, turned up from the face and draped into a bicorne or tricorn, is very popular now.

Child's Best Laxative, is "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry mother! Even a bilious, constipated, feverish child loves the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Long Tunic Blouse

The fashionable tunic blouses are growing longer and longer. Very new models show just a few inches of undergarment below the tunic's hem. True, a good bit of the under dress may be seen from the sides in these models that have open seams, but that is just a better opportunity to contrast harmoniously colored materials.

The blouse sketched is in the Chinese mode which is new and very popular. Chinese embroidery and long tassels are appropriate trimmings.

Manila—Municipal officials of the Philippines hereafter are to be prohibited from joining organizations except those of a religious, athletic or purely recreational nature.

The executive bureau, with the approval of the secretary of the department of the interior, has issued a circular to this effect with a view to guarding against affiliation of members of local police forces with organizations likely to interfere with their duties.

Masonic lodges, secret societies and labor or mutual aid unions are included in the ban, executive officials explained in connection with the circular.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lansing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soared on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Krumble Bran. I tried it as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lansing, 1305 Jefries Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable. But Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

NEENAH PUCKCHASERS INVADE APPLETON SUNDAY

Black And Orange Seek Revenge For Drubbing Handed Them By Maroons

Representatives Of Valley League Teams Meet At Neenah Friday Night To Choose New President

Coached by R. L. Jarvis, former Canadian hockey star, the Appleton Maroons have been looking hard all week in preparation for Sunday's contest with Neenah on the Jones park rink. Neenah is out for revenge for the licking handed it two weeks ago, when the Bellmen vanquished the Blacks, 3 to 1, on their home rink.

Since that time Appleton has humbled Kaukauna here, and the showing made by Bell and his speedy aggregation in the week's workouts promises to keep them at the top of the league. Coach Jarvis has taught the Appleton men a bunch of new tricks which are expected to offset the advantage of experience held by Neenah and Oshkosh. The Maroons are a new team while Neenah and Oshkosh have been playing for several years.

The Maroons will be slightly handicapped Sunday by the absence of Percy Sharp, who is unable to play owing to an infection in one of the feet. Walter Bell, manager of the team, expects to see him back in action Sunday, while Schultz, a speedy wing, will have to play without him. The Maroons have called the Maroons to victory over every opponent. Aided by the coaching of the experienced Jarvis, Appleton has reason to look forward to another victory Sunday, but according to indications, the local men will have to fight hard against Neenah. The Maroons will be unable to take full advantage of their chief asset, speed, on the small local rink, which will give Neenah a chance to make its experience count.

OFFICIALS ARE PICKED

R. L. Jarvis will act as referee Sunday, and there will be a goal judge at each end, in addition to the timekeeper and score keeper. Last Sunday about 100 fans appeared at the contest despite the intense cold. It is expected that a record attendance will be at Sunday's contest if the weather is good. No admission is charged. Spectators are expected to come according to their own will, while the hot is passed at the game. Up to now contributions have been sufficient to cover the expenses of the visiting teams, but if hockey is to be made a permanent item on the list of winter sports here, fans will have to give their full financial support.

Officers and members of the Valley League will meet Friday night at Neenah to elect a president to succeed James I. Grace, assistant secretary of the Oshkosh Association of Commerce who will leave shortly for Aibion, Mich. Other important matters, including a change of schedule will also be arranged. Representatives from Neenah, Kaukauna, Oshkosh and Appleton will be present.

NEWSPAPER QUINT TAKES 4TH PLACE IN STATE TOURNEY

Janesville Gazette Squad Rolls Among Leaders in Home Town Meet

Janesville—Hitting the maples for a grand total of 2712, team Number 4 of the Janesville Gazette went into fourth place in the five-man event of twenty-second Wisconsin boxing tournament here Thursday night. The Gazette also forced Kinzelmann and Esser of Milwaukee into fifth place.

Starting out with a mark of 893, the Janesville newspapermen experienced their best game in the second when 242 was marked up and closed with an 877. J. Newman of the team was high, amassing a total of 357 nine. The Gazette team breaking into the leaders group was the sole feat of Thursday's rolling in which another of 48 teams of Janesville entry of 613 participated. Second high score of the day was recorded by the Adams sheet and Metal Works with a mark of 2856.

Twelve teams of the Janesville Kwan club rolled on the late shift Thursday night and the best mark of a booster team was No. 5 in gathering pins for a 25th score. Twelve teams each from the Fisher St. Louis Body Co. and Chevrolet Motor Co. completed two more shifts of the four Thursday. Thursday's contest was the first of the first round of the tournament which opened here last Friday and during the seven days, approximately 800 five-man teams have been on the drives in addition to a large number of men in the doubles and singles events.

Another weekend invasion opens Friday with 18 teams of the Rubber Co. of Cudahy competing. Some new marks may be made Saturday and Sunday with teams from Milwaukee, Madison, Manitowish, Kaukauna, La Crosse, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Fond du Lac and Beaver Dam scheduled to appear.

Butte, Mont.—Joe Simpson, Butte welterweight, knocked a two-toned knockout over Tillie "Kid" Herman of Chicago when he knocked him through the ropes in the fourth round of a scheduled 15 round bout.

Miami, Fla.—Jack Dempsey will fight any man in the world if the public demands and a competent promoter is in charge, his manager, Dick Kearns said.

PENN'S SLUMP IN SPORTS FAILS TO HIT BASKETBALL

Quakers' Success On Cage Floor Makes Up For Losses In Other Lines

Philadelphia—Baseball, football and track achievements have taken a sharp slump at the University of Pennsylvania of recent seasons. Especially is this true in the gridiron sport, where the Red and Blue hasn't turned out a real championship team in years.

But regardless of what the Quarter school has accomplished in these three athletic activities of late there is one sportive endeavor in which Penn has held its own and then some. That has been in basketball.

On the courts old Penn has had more than just ordinary success. Year after year it has topped the year in the Eastern Intercollegiate League. Fact is, the Red and Blue has had things more of less to its liking ever since 1915. And on some occasions it has made a runaway race of the campaign.

The Eastern Intercollegiate League was organized back in 1910. Since that time 13 titles have been awarded. Of these, Penn has walked off with five, four of them in one stretch. From 1918 through 1921 the Quakers were practically unbeatable. In those four campaigns Penn won 35 league games against only three defeats. In 1919-20 the Red and Blue won 10 battles—every one it played in the overtime. On other occasions it lost but one till while coping nine.

Pennsylvania has turned out some great court experts during its reign in the league. Most famous of these, perhaps, was Mike Sweeney, sensational all-around player of a few seasons ago.

EXPECT NEW MARKS IN A. C. TRACK MEET

By Associated Press

Chicago—Record smashing is looked for at Friday night's seventh annual Illinois Athletic club track and field meet. An army of stars is included in the entry list of 200, with the result that several marks are expected to fall on the fast track.

Joe Ray, dean of American middle distance runners, is counted on to furnish more than one thrill during the evening. But he is not the only attraction. Several university stars from the middle west and athletes from athletic associations are to figure in the competition.

Harold Osborne, University of Illinois high jumper is to try to better records, and will have competition from Jacoby and Smith. Pope and Schwartz, University of Wisconsin shot putters together with Tom Lieb will produce competition in this event.

Minneapolis—Joe Lohman of Toledo, light-heavyweight, will be the opponent of Bartling Siki, Senegalese in ten rounds on Jan. 31, it was announced.

Skaters Pleased With Prizes Offered Winners In Second Tournament

Today Is Last Day To Enter Post-Crescent Races On Feb. 3—Practice Tilts Indicate New Skating Records

About 45 skaters will have entered the five classes of competition in the second annual Gold Medal skating tournament when the entries close Friday night. The races will be held at Jones park on Sunday, Feb. 3. The number of entries is about as large as a year ago.

Numbers will be assigned to the skaters as soon as all the entries are in and skaters will be asked to call for the number before the day of the race. A program of events will be planned early next week.

Interest in the tournament has been growing in the last few days and it is believed the big sporting event will be even more successful than last year when about 2,500 people crowded around the rink to see 40 skaters in action.

No entry fee was charged the skaters and there was no red tape of any kind for them to observe. All they had to do was fill out the entry blanks and return to the skating editor of the Post-Crescent.

City officials are cooperating with the Post-Crescent to make the tournament a success. They have promised good ice if the weather is at all favorable and will do all in their power to make the races succeed.

The gold and silver medals and the silver loving cup, which will be awarded to winners have been on display at the Post building for some time and have attracted considerable attention. Skaters are well pleased with the efforts that the Post-Crescent has made to entertain them.

Much better records are expected of the races than a year ago because of the greater experience of the contestants. Skaters in practice have been making amazing time on the course, indicating that the Feb. 3 event will be a real speed affair.

K. OF C. BOWLERS CLASH AT MADISON TOURNEY IN MARCH

Keglers Of State And National Fame Entered For Tournament In Capital

By Associated Press

Madison—The eighth annual Knights of Columbus bowling tournament will be held here, March 1—March 23, according to Keyes McCurdy, secretary, Madison. Entries will close at mid-night, Feb. 12. More than 300 teams are expected to compete in the classic. The alloys used in the tournament will be those used two years ago by the Wisconsin Bowling association in a meet here. They are 18 in number and are reported in good condition. Fifty per cent of the award money will go to competing bowlers in the tournament proper and the other 50 per cent to the "Goodfellow" or booster bowlers.

Janesville, meeting place of the Wisconsin Bowling association tournament now on, is understood to be a bidder for the K. C. tourney. The southern Wisconsin city has pledged 15 teams for the meet here.

Milwaukee bowlers are expected to roll in the final days of the K. C. meet here, having been assigned March 22-23. Fifty four teams from the Cram City are expected to roll in the five-man event, Mar. 22, and shoot their doubles and singles the day following according to Secretary McCurdy.

Among star bowlers expected at this meet are H. Ewald, Milwaukee, holder of the world and state singles record of 728 pins rolled here in the state tournament of 1922, Walter Atkinson, who rolled high game at the 1923 A. B. C. meet, with a 735 point Louis F. Schaller, winner of A. B. C. and Milwaukee Journal medals for high scores of 229 in a K. C. league game on Dec. 27; George Stehr, who shot a 300 score last year and Elmer Lee, who has a league average of 191 for the season.

Harry Lunte, former member of the Cleveland Indians, now with Rochester of the International league, was the only player in that organization to take part in every game in which his team participated. When in the American league Lunte was the "tough" hard-luck guy, injuries putting him out of it every time he got a chance to show.

TENDLER MEETS RAY MITCHELL ON JAN. 28

Philadelphia—Low Tandler, man of affluence, positively refuses to be thrust aside as this city's leading lightweight. On the night of Jan. 28 he will make an attempt to reclaim some of the laurels he lost when he was so badly beaten by Kensington's own, Natty Goldman. Low has been matched to meet Ray Mitchell. The bout will be carried and indexed to be held light here. Thereon is hinted a bit of a feud. Until recently the same manager who handled the bouts for Tandler also did business for Mitchell. Having made a big hit with the fans of Philadelphia getting the decision over Tandler in a 10-round battle on New Year's day, Bobby Gunnis, local fight promoter, has offered Goldman a guarantee of $4,000 to fight Joe Tiptitz a ten round go there. Gunnis is also willing to give Tiptitz a guarantee of $3,500.

Denphy of Washington, is scheduled to oppose Harry Payne Wingham of New York. J. R. McDonald of Milwaukee and W. E. Pollock of Oshkosh were among the missing at the close of the day. Max Donald, playing in the second round, was defeated 2 and 1 by Sidney Colgate of East Orange, Pollock lost on the home green to Russell Love of Johnston, Pa.

HERRICKS DEFAULT IN VALLEY CAGEING LOOP

There will be no game of the Fox River Valley Basketball league here Friday night. The Green Bay Hericks who were scheduled to clash with the Citizens National Bank quintet at Appleton, have defaulted for the second time, since the league started, and a meeting of the league committee at the various teams will be arranged before the end of the week in order to decide on the play-offs of postponed games.

BLUE FIVE GETS ROUSING SENDOFF TO CARROLL TILT

Lawrence Quintet Leaves For Tour To Waukesha And Milwaukee Colleges

Lawrence gave its varsity cagers a rousing sendoff when they left Friday morning for Waukesha where they will clash with Carroll college Friday night, after which they will go to Milwaukee for a game with Marquette. Coach A. C. Denner was accompanied by Captain Christoph. Collings, Cooke and Courtney.

The men put in one of the hardest weeks of drill since the season opened in preparation for this blow of week end tilts. Their defeat at the hands of Ripon here last Friday put a crimp in their hopes, and as both Carroll and Marquette are said to be stronger than the Crimson, they look forward to a couple of stiff games.

Carroll last year ended the season in second place in the conference, and this year has a fine prospect of taking first. All of last year's stars are back, and the return of Kuranz who had been out for several years has further strengthened the lineup.

Marquette and Lawrence had not been on speaking terms since 1918, when a football dispute caused a rupture which is hoped will be permanently repaired by the resumption of intercollegiate competition on the basketball floor. The Hilltoppers are way beyond the class of the Blues theoretically. Enrollment at Marquette university exceeds that of Lawrence, and offers that school a much larger choice of material.

The Blues, despite being outclassed in this respect, are looking forward to giving the Hilltoppers a hard run. Marquette expects to win, according to reports from Milwaukee, but at the same time has been working all week without a letup in preparation for the contest.

Hot Springs, Ark.—Charlie Hanco. St. Paul heavyweight, defeated Joseph Tozzle, Italian, in two straight falls.

FAIRMEN PLEDGE HELP FOR PURITY

By Associated Press
Oshkosh—The Wisconsin Association of Fairmen, previous to adjournment Thursday afternoon, by unanimous vote adopted a resolution giving moral support to the Showmen's Legislative committee of America through activity of which a cleanup has been made of carnivals and other outdoor amusements. The Fair association pledged itself to employ no carnivals nor permit concessions not sanctioned by that organization, thereby giving assurance that every county fair represented in the association will be operated free from any objectionable features.

The action followed an extended address by Thomas J. Johnson of Chicago, commissioner of the legislative committee, through whose efforts more than those of any other one man, reforms have been made possible. His activity in that respect has been so marked that he has been called "Judge Landis of the outdoor show world." Mr. Johnson explained how the reform movement was started in February at a meeting held in Chicago.

As a result, within ten months, 95 per cent of the carnivals, circuses and other outdoor attractions had been completely purged of all immoral, indecent and objectionable shows and all games of chance for money had been done away with. Games in which the player had an equal chance and where merchandise is given have not been banned, but they must be on the square.

OLD SWIMMING HOLE IS SCENE WHERE DAD AND SON ARE HEROES

Hebronville, Mass. — Tommy Ferns, Jr., emerged a hero from the same old swimming hole that made his father, Thomas J. Ferns, famous hereabouts 23 years ago.

Tommy saved the life of Phillip Jennella, a playmate who was drowning in Ten Mile river.

Twenty-three years ago Thomas, Sr., received a medal for rescuing Agnes Cusick from drowning in the same river in practically the same spot.

And now little Tommy has just been presented with a gold medal and the plaudits of the townfolk in a public demonstration.

"A chip off the old block" in his hero role," commented Mayor Sweeney as he pinned the medal on Tommy Jr.

Young Jennella, whom Tommy rescued, was so tickled he asked his mother to give all his clothes and toys to Tommy.

"For," said he, "if Tommy hadn't saved me I wouldn't have had any use for them anyhow."
